This approach focuses on joining the unique resources and perspectives of diverse sectors and entities and challenges these groups to work in a concerted strategic way to promote and protect the public's health. Focusing on diverse partnerships as the framework for public health, the book discusses the need for a shift from an individual to a population-based approach in practice, research, policy, and community engagement. The status of the governmental public health infrastructure and what needs to be improved, including its interface with the health care delivery system. The roles of nongovernment actors such as academia, business, local communities, and the media can play in creating a healthy nation.
