Colour-Coded Constance Backhouse, 1999-11-20 Historically, Canadians have considered themselves to be more or less free of racial prejudice. Although this conception has been challenged in recent years, it has not been completely dispelled. In Colour Coded, Constance Backhouse illustrates the tenacious hold that white supremacy had on our legal system in the first half of this century and underscores the damaging legacy of inequality that continues today. Backhouse presents detailed narratives of six court cases, each giving evidence of blatant racism created and enforced through law. The cases focus on Aboriginal, Inuit, Chinese, Canadian, and African Canadian individuals taking us from the criminal prosecution of traditional Aboriginal dance to the trial of members of the Ku Klux Klan of Canada. From thousands of possibilities, Backhouse has selected studies that constitute central moments in the legal history of race in Canada. Her selection also considers a wide range of legal forums, including administrative rulings by municipal councils, criminal trials before police magistrates, and criminal and civil cases heard by the highest courts in the provinces and by the Supreme Court of Canada. The extensive and detailed documentation presented here leaves no doubt that the Canadian legal system played a dominant role in creating and preserving racial discrimination. A central message of this book is that racism is deeply embedded in Canadian history, despite Canada's reputation as a raceless society. Winner of the Joseph Brant Award presented by the Ontario Historical Society.

Paradise Judith McNaught, 1993-04-23 Ruthless corporate raider Matthew Farrell was poised to move in on the legendary department store empire owned by Chicago's renowned Bancroft family. In the glare of the media spotlight, it was a stunning takeover that overshadowed the electric chemistry between Matt, once a scruffy kid from steel town Indiana, and cool, sophisticated Meredith Bancroft. Their brief, ill-fated marriage sparked with thrilling sensuality; he was the outsider who dared to rock her country club world and ended with a bitter betrayal. Now locked in a battle that should be all business, dangerous temptations and bittersweet memories are stirring their hearts. Will they risk everything on a passion too bold to be denied?
