

SOP for MS in Software Engineering

In this day and age, many people are inseparable from their mobile devices. Indeed, the infrastructure and framework of entire nations are built upon software. I first became fascinated with coding at the age of seven, and my appreciation of its applications have only grown as I have progressed through my education in the field. My computer science courses have helped me to better understand the logic and complex circuitry underlying the ability to convert code to action, and it is a path that I hope to peruse more deeply in the future. I am submitting this sample sop for ms in software engineering as part of my application for this esteemed graduate program.

As part of my understanding of the field of software engineering, I have striven to ensure that I immerse myself in the theory as well as the applications. Two years ago, I completed an internship in software engineering, where I was responsible for writing parts of a code that would integrate the main software with the user interface. This required me to not only learn the different access points of the two separate frames, but also to design code that would not interfere with the function of either one. This experience helped me not only to sharpen my programming skills, but also to better understand dynamic group programming.

Through this graduate program, I know that I will gain a more holistic view of the software engineering world, and more in-depth knowledge about systems architecture. This knowledge will enable me to work on challenging team-based projects modeled around real-world industry topics. I believe that the hands-on mentorship and programming experience that I will gain from this graduate program in software engineering will prepare me for a career in the field, allowing me to develop into a more mature coding professional.
