Enceladus and the Icy Moons of Saturn Paul M. Schenk, Roger N. Clark, Carly J. A. Howett, Anne J.

Verbiscer, J. Hunter Waite, 2018-11-27 With active geysers coating its surface with dazzlingly bright ice crystals Saturn's large moon Enceladus is one of the most enigmatic worlds in our solar system. Underlying this activity are numerous further discoveries by the Cassini spacecraft tantalizing us with evidence that Enceladus harbors a subsurface ocean of liquid water. Enceladus is thus newly realized as a forefront candidate among potentially habitable ocean worlds in our own solar system although it is only one of a family of icy moons orbiting the giant ringed planet each with its own story. As a new volume in the Space Science Series Enceladus and the Icy Moons of Saturn brings together nearly eighty of the world's top experts writing more than twenty chapters to set the foundation for what we currently understand while building the framework for the highest priority questions to be addressed through ongoing spacecraft exploration. Topics include the physics and processes driving the geologic and geophysical phenomena of icy worlds including but not limited to ring-moon interactions, interior melting due to tidal heating, ejection and reaccretion of vapor and particulates, ice tectonics and cryovolcanism. By contextualizing each topic within the profusion of puzzles beckoning from among Saturn's many dozen moons, Enceladus and the Icy Moons of Saturn synthesizes planetary processes on a broad scale to inform and propel both seasoned researchers and students toward achieving new advances in the coming decade and beyond.

Student Start-ups: The New Landscape Of Academic Entrepreneurship Mike Wright, Philippe Mustar, 2019-10-29 There has been a substantial rise in the number of entrepreneurship courses and programs at colleges and universities. Despite the rapid rise of undergraduate entrepreneurship, there have been few academic studies of this phenomenon. Little is known about the antecedents and consequences of these activities. Student Start-Ups: The New Landscape of Academic Entrepreneurship is the first book of its kind on student entrepreneurship. It sets out to provide a structured approach to understanding the development of the phenomenon by synthesizing and offering the best available quantitative data and new case studies from a range of countries and universities. In doing so, they present the evolution of different models of student entrepreneurship with insights and implications for practice, policy, and research.

Vietnam 2035 World Bank Group; Ministry of Planning and Investment of Vietnam, 2016-11-07 Thirty years of economic renovation reforms have catapulted Vietnam from the ranks of the world's poorest countries to one of its great development success stories. Critical ingredients have been visionary leaders, a sense of shared societal purpose, and a focus on the future. Starting in the late 1980s, these elements were successfully fused with the embrace of markets and the global economy. Economic growth since then has been rapid, stable, and inclusive, translating into strong welfare gains for the vast majority of the population. But three decades of success from reforms raises expectations for the future, as aptly captured in the Vietnamese constitution.

which sets the goal of a prosperous people and a strong democratic equitable and civilized country There is a firm aspiration that by 2035 Vietnam will be a modern and industrialized nation moving toward becoming a prosperous creative equitable and democratic society The Vietnam 2035 report a joint undertaking of the Government of Vietnam and the World Bank Group seeks to better comprehend the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead It shows that the country s aspirations and the supporting policy and institutional agenda stand on three pillars balancing economic prosperity with environmental sustainability promoting equity and social inclusion to develop a harmonious middle class society and enhancing the capacity and accountability of the state to establish a rule of law state and a democratic society Vietnam 2035 further argues that the rapid growth needed to achieve the bold aspirations will be sustained only if it stands on faster productivity growth and reflects the costs of environmental degradation Productivity growth in turn will benefit from measures to enhance the competitiveness of domestic enterprises scale up the benefits of urban agglomeration and build national technological and innovative capacity Maintaining the record on equity and social inclusion will require lifting marginalized groups and delivering services to an aging and urbanizing middle class society And to fulfill the country s aspirations the institutions of governance will need to become modern transparent and fully rooted in the rule of law

Synchronized Factories Juan S. Blyde, 2014-09-15 The objective of this report is to examine the extent to which countries in Latin America and the Caribbean participate in global value chains and what are the drivers of such participation Production processes have been increasingly fragmented worldwide For example the production of the Boeing 787 Dreamliner involves 43 suppliers located in 135 locations around the globe There are many examples like the Dreamliner from the 451 parts that go into the iPod to the less technologically intensive but still widespread multi country production of a Barbie doll All this reflects significant changes in the way world production is being reorganized across national borders That is for many goods production has become a multi country process in which different stages are carried out in specialized plants in different parts of the world Countries which specialize in different stages of the production process are thus linked by these global value chains For developing countries a clear opportunity from the continuous international fragmentation of production arises in the form of participating in activities that were virtually not opened to them in the past Therefore the international fragmentation of production provides opportunities for trade diversification an issue that can be of particular importance for Latin America and the Caribbean as the region s export base is in general highly concentrated in a few industries and particularly biased towards natural resource intensive sectors The aim is to identify whether there is policy space for implementing strategies that allow countries to improve their position in regional and global value chains Working in Silicon Valley Alan Hyde, 2015-06-11. This work examines the relationship between the rapid technological and economic growth characteristic of high technology districts and their distinct labor market institutions: short job tenures, rapid turnover, flat firm hierarchies, weak internal labor markets, high use of temporary labor, unusual uses of independent contracting, little unionization, unusual employee organization (e.g., chat groups and ethnic organization), unequal income, minimal employment discrimination, litigation, flexible compensation (especially stock options), and heavy use of immigrants on short-term visas. The author suggests that while these distinctive labor market institutions are somewhat unorthodox and may present legal problems, they play essential roles in high growth.
