The Political Economy of the 2014-2020 Common Agricultural Policy Johan F. M. Swinnen, 2015 This book is the first to document the reform of the EU's Common Agricultural Policy (CAP) and to analyse the political and economic factors which determined the outcome of the negotiations. The policy non-reform will affect the world's global food security and agricultural

Justice and Equity in Climate Change Education Elizabeth M. Walsh, 2022-02-21 This volume looks at the ways in which climate change education relates to broader ideas of justice, equity, and social transformation and ultimately calls for a rapid response to the need for climate education reform. Highlighting the role of climate change in exacerbating existing societal injustices, this text explores the ethical and social dimensions of climate change education, including identity, agency, and societal structure, and in doing so, problematizes climate change education as an equity concern. Chapters present empirical analysis underpinned by a theoretical framework and case studies which provide critical insights for the design of learning environments, curricula, and everyday climate change-related learning in schools. This text will benefit researchers, academics, educators, and policymakers with an interest in science education, social justice studies, and environmental sociology, more broadly. Those specifically interested in climate education, curriculum studies, and climate adaptation will also benefit from this book.

Science and Human Behavior B.F. Skinner, 2012-12-18 The psychology classic, a detailed study of scientific theories of human nature and the possible ways in which human behavior can be predicted and controlled from one of the most influential behaviorists of the twentieth century and the author of Walden Two. This is an important book, exceptionally well-written and logically consistent with the basic premise of the unitary nature of science. Many students of society and culture would take violent issue with most of the things that Skinner has to say, but even those who disagree most will find this a stimulating book. Samuel M. Strong, The American Journal of Sociology. This is a remarkable book, remarkable in that it presents a strong, consistent, and all but exhaustive case for a natural science of human behavior. It ought to be valuable for those whose preferences lie with, as well as those whose preferences stand against, a behavioristic approach to human activity. Harry Prosch, Ethics.

World Reference Base for Soil Resources 2014 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-07-20 This publication is a revised and updated version of World Soil Resources Reports No 84 and 103 and presents the international soil classification system. Every soil in the world can be allocated to one of the 32 Reference Soil Groups as defined in this document and can further be characterized by a set of qualifiers. The resulting soil name provides information on soil genesis, soil ecological function, and soil properties relevant for land use and management. The same system, refined slightly, may be used to name the units of soil map legends, thereby providing comprehensive spatial information. By accommodating national soil classification systems, the World Reference Base facilitates the worldwide correlation of soil information.
