

FRANS DE WAAL

"A remarkable journey of discovery to the heart of a profound question: What can we learn about the evolution of our own culture by studying the behavior of our primate cousins? A deftly written, deeply reflective work."

The Ape And Sushi Master Reflections Of A Primatologist Frans De Waal

The Ape And The Sushi Master Frans De Waal, 2008-08-05 From the New York Times bestselling author of Mama's Last Hug and Are We Smart Enough to Know How Smart Animals Are a provocative argument that apes have created their own distinctive cultures In The Ape and the Sushi Master eminent primatologist Frans de Waal corrects our arrogant assumption that humans are the only creatures to have made the leap from the natural to the cultural domain The book's title derives from an analogy de Waal draws between the way behavior is transmitted in ape society and the way sushi making skills are passed down from sushi master to apprentice Like the apprentice young apes watch their group mates at close range absorbing the methods and lessons of each of their elders actions Responses long thought to be instinctive are actually learned behavior de Waal argues and constitute ape culture A delightful mix of intriguing anecdote rigorous clinical study adventurous field work and fascinating speculation The Ape and the Sushi Master shows that apes are not human caricatures but members of our extended family with their own resourcefulness and dignity The Ape and the Sushi Master Frans B. M. de Waal, Frans de Waal, 2001 Primatologists Frans de Waal has published a number of books on chimpanzee behaviour including Peacemaking Among Primates In The Ape and The Sushi Master the author continues his explorations of human and primate culture in order to arrive at a better understanding of the roots of human behaviour De Waal's study examines whether animals learn from one another and have what he defines as culture or whether their actions are purely based on genetics and instinct The Language of Animals Stephen Hart, 2014-09-16 Kanzi the chimp Koko the ape singing whales trumpeting elephants and dolphins trained for naval service all of them make the news each year Members of these species learn to communicate both with their voices and with body language and without the signals they develop each would be an island unable to survive on Earth How much do we know about how animals communicate with each other or with humans Scientific American Focus The Language of Animals examines the sometimes subtle differences between the nature of communication and what we call language or intelligence We explore how scientists study animal communication and we learn about various species and their ways of talking and passing on their own cultural patterns From dancing bees and chirping crickets to schooling fish and flocking birds from birdsong to whale song to the language of our closest relatives in the animal kingdom the chimpanzees these overviews of thoroughly detailed case studies are a window to understanding the constant chatter and movement of the animal kingdom Are We Smart Enough to Know How Smart Animals Are? Frans de Waal, 2016-04-25 A New York Times bestseller A passionate and convincing case for the sophistication of nonhuman minds Alison Gopnik The Atlantic Hailed as a classic Are We Smart Enough to Know How Smart Animals Are explores the oddities and complexities of animal cognition in crows dolphins parrots sheep wasps bats chimpanzees and bonobos to reveal how smart animals really are and how we've underestimated their abilities for too long Did you know that octopuses use

coconut shells as tools that elephants classify humans by gender and language and that there is a young male chimpanzee at Kyoto University whose flash memory puts that of humans to shame Fascinating entertaining and deeply informed de Waal's landmark work will convince you to rethink everything you thought you knew about animal and human intelligence Tree of Origin Frans B. M. de Waal, 2009-07-01 How did we become the linguistic cultured and hugely successful apes that we are Our closest relatives the other mentally complex and socially skilled primates offer tantalizing clues In Tree of Origin nine of the world's top primate experts read these clues and compose the most extensive picture to date of what the behavior of monkeys and apes can tell us about our own evolution as a species It has been nearly fifteen years since a single volume addressed the issue of human evolution from a primate perspective and in that time we have witnessed explosive growth in research on the subject Tree of Origin gives us the latest news about bonobos the make love not war apes who behave so dramatically unlike chimpanzees We learn about the tool traditions and social customs that set each ape community apart We see how DNA analysis is revolutionizing our understanding of paternity intergroup migration and reproductive success And we confront intriguing discoveries about primate hunting behavior politics cognition diet and the evolution of language and intelligence that challenge claims of human uniqueness in new and subtle ways Tree of Origin provides the clearest glimpse yet of the apelike ancestor who left the forest and began the long journey toward modern humanity The Age of Empathy Frans de Waal, 2009-09-22 In this thought provoking book the acclaimed author of Our Inner Ape examines how empathy comes naturally to a great variety of animals including humans Are we our brothers keepers Do we have an instinct for compassion Or are we as is often assumed only on earth to serve our own survival and interests By studying social behaviors in animals such as bonding the herd instinct the forming of trusting alliances expressions of consolation and conflict resolution Frans de Waal demonstrates that animals and humans are preprogrammed to reach out He has found that chimpanzees care for mates that are wounded by leopards elephants offer reassuring rumbles to youngsters in distress and dolphins support sick companions near the water's surface to prevent them from drowning From day one humans have innate sensitivities to faces bodies and voices we've been designed to feel for one another De Waal's theory runs counter to the assumption that humans are inherently selfish which can be seen in the fields of politics law and finance But he cites the public's outrage at the U.S. government's lack of empathy in the wake of Hurricane Katrina as a significant shift in perspective one that helped Barack Obama become elected and ushered in what perhaps could become an Age of Empathy Through a better understanding of empathy's survival value in evolution de Waal suggests we can work together toward a more just society based on a more generous and accurate view of human nature Written in layman's prose with a wealth of anecdotes wry humor and incisive intelligence The Age of Empathy is essential reading for our embattled times An important and timely message about the biological roots of human kindness Desmond Morris author of The Naked Ape My Family Album Frans B. M. Waal, 2003 The author of Chimpanzee Politics and Bonobo The Forgotten Ape captures the social interactions of apes focusing on the subtle gestures of chimps bonobos capuchin baboons and macaques as they interact within their groups 10 000 first printing Biology Natural History Why Evolution is True Jerry A. Coyne,2010-01-14 For all the discussion in the media about creationism and Intelligent Design virtually nothing has been said about the evidence in question the evidence for evolution by natural selection Yet as this succinct and important book shows that evidence is vast varied and magnificent and drawn from many disparate fields of science The very latest research is uncovering a stream of evidence revealing evolution in action from the actual observation of a species splitting into two to new fossil discoveries to the deciphering of the evidence stored in our genome Why Evolution is True weaves together the many threads of modern work in genetics palaeontology geology molecular biology anatomy and development to demonstrate the indelible stamp of the processes first proposed by Darwin It is a crisp lucid and accessible statement that will leave no one with an open mind in any doubt about the truth of evolution Love at Goon Park Deborah Blum,2011-07-05 In this meticulously researched and masterfully written book Pulitzer Prize winner Deborah Blum examines the history of love through the lens of its strangest unsung hero a brilliant fearless alcoholic psychologist named Harry Frederick Harlow Pursuing the idea that human affection could be understood studied even measured Harlow 1905 1981 arrived at his conclusions by conducting research sometimes beautiful sometimes horrible on the primates in his University of Wisconsin laboratory Paradoxically his darkest experiments may have the brightest legacy for by studying neglect and its life altering consequences Harlow confirmed love s central role in shaping not only how we feel but also how we think His work sparked a psychological revolution The more children experience affection he discovered the more curious they become about the world Love makes people smarter The biography of both a man and an idea The Measure of Love is a powerful and at times disturbing narrative that will forever alter our understanding of human relationships Grandmère David B. Roosevelt,Manuela Dunn-Mascetti,2008-11-15 Until her death when he was 20 David B Roosevelt enjoyed a close relationship with his grandmother Eleanor Roosevelt Now David shares personal family stories and photographs that show Eleanor as she really was Chimpanzee Politics Frans B. M. Waal,1982 Precise but eminently readable and indeed exciting This excellent book achieves the dual goal which eludes so many writers about animal behavior it will both fascinate the non specialist and be seen as an important contribution to science Times Literary Supplement Good Natured Frans B. M. DE WAAL,F. B. M. de Waal,2009-06-30 To observe a dog s guilty look to witness a gorilla s self sacrifice for a wounded mate to watch an elephant herd s communal effort on behalf of a stranded calf to catch animals in certain acts is to wonder what moves them Might there be a code of ethics in the animal kingdom Must an animal be human to be humane In this provocative book a renowned scientist takes on those who have declared ethics uniquely human Making a compelling case for a morality grounded in biology he shows how ethical behavior is as much a matter of evolution as any other trait in humans and animals alike World famous for his brilliant descriptions of Machiavellian power plays among chimpanzees the nastier side of animal life Frans de Waal here contends that animals have a nice side as well Making his case through vivid anecdotes drawn from his work with apes and monkeys and bolstered by the intriguing voluminous data from his and others ongoing research de Waal shows us that many of the building blocks of morality are natural they can be observed in other animals Through his eyes we see how not just primates but all kinds of animals from marine mammals to dogs respond to social rules help each other share food resolve conflict to mutual satisfaction even develop a crude sense of justice and fairness Natural selection may be harsh but it has produced highly successful species that survive through cooperation and mutual assistance De Waal identifies this paradox as the key to an evolutionary account of morality and demonstrates that human morality could never have developed without the foundation of fellow feeling our species shares with other animals As his work makes clear a morality grounded in biology leads to an entirely different conception of what it means to be human and humane

Mama's Last Hug: Animal Emotions and What They Tell Us about Ourselves Frans de Waal,2019-03-12 A New York Times Bestseller and winner of the PEN E O Wilson Literary Science Writing Award Game changing Sy Montgomery New York Times Book Review Mama's Last Hug is a fascinating exploration of the rich emotional lives of animals beginning with Mama a chimpanzee matriarch who formed a deep bond with biologist Jan van Hooff Her story and others like it from dogs adopting the injuries of their companions to rats helping fellow rats in distress to elephants revisiting the bones of their loved ones show that humans are not the only species with the capacity for love hate fear shame guilt joy disgust and empathy Frans de Waal opens our hearts and minds to the many ways in which humans and other animals are connected

The Lady Tasting Tea David Salsburg,2002-05-01 An insightful revealing history of the magical mathematics that transformed our world The Lady Tasting Tea is not a book of dry facts and figures but the history of great individuals who dared to look at the world in a new way At a summer tea party in Cambridge England a guest states that tea poured into milk tastes different from milk poured into tea Her notion is shouted down by the scientific minds of the group But one man Ronald Fisher proposes to scientifically test the hypothesis There is no better person to conduct such an experiment for Fisher is a pioneer in the field of statistics The Lady Tasting Tea spotlights not only Fisher's theories but also the revolutionary ideas of dozens of men and women which affect our modern everyday lives Writing with verve and wit David Salsburg traces breakthroughs ranging from the rise and fall of Karl Pearson's theories to the methods of quality control that rebuilt postwar Japan's economy including a pivotal early study on the capacity of a small beer cask at the Guinness brewing factory Brimming with intriguing tidbits and colorful characters The Lady Tasting Tea salutes the spirit of those who dared to look at the world in a new way

Primate Origins of Human Cognition and Behavior Tetsuro Matsuzawa,2008-06-30 Biologists and anthropologists in Japan have played a crucial role in the development of primatology as a scientific discipline Publication of Primate Origins of Human Cognition and Behavior under the editorship of Tetsuro Matsuzawa reaffirms the pervasive and creative role played by the intellectual descendants of Kinji Imanishi and Junichiro Itani in the fields of behavioral ecology psychology and cognitive science Matsuzawa and his colleagues humans and other primate partners explore a broad range of issues including the phylogeny of perception and cognition the origin of human speech learning and memory recognition of self others and species society and social interaction and culture With data from field and laboratory studies of more than 90 primate species and of more than 50 years of long term research the intellectual breadth represented in this volume makes it a major contribution to comparative cognitive science and to current views on the origin of the mind and behavior of humans

Different: Gender Through the Eyes of a Primatologist Frans de Waal, 2022-04-05 Longlisted for the PEN E O Wilson Literary Science Writing Award Every new book by Frans de Waal is a cause for excitement and this one is no different A breath of fresh air in the cramped debate about the differences between men and women Fascinating nuanced and very timely Rutger Bregman author of Humankind A Hopeful History In Different world renowned primatologist Frans de Waal draws on decades of observation and studies of both human and animal behavior to argue that despite the linkage between gender and biological sex biology does not automatically support the traditional gender roles in human societies While humans and other primates do share some behavioral differences biology offers no justification for existing gender inequalities Using chimpanzees and bonobos to illustrate this point two ape relatives that are genetically equally close to humans de Waal challenges widely held beliefs about masculinity and femininity and common assumptions about authority leadership cooperation competition filial bonds and sexual behavior Chimpanzees are male dominated and violent while bonobos are female dominated and peaceful In both species political power needs to be distinguished from physical dominance Power is not limited to the males and both sexes show true leadership capacities Different is a fresh and thought provoking approach to the long running debate about the balance between nature and nurture and where sex and gender roles fit in De Waal peppers his discussion with details from his own life a Dutch childhood in a family of six boys his marriage to a French woman with a different orientation toward gender and decades of academic turf wars over outdated scientific theories that have proven hard to dislodge from public discourse He discusses sexual orientation gender identity and the limitations of the gender binary exceptions to which are also found in other primates With humor clarity and compassion Different seeks to broaden the conversation about human gender dynamics by promoting an inclusive model that embraces differences rather than negating them

Cultural Anthropology: 101 Jack David Eller, 2015-02-11 This concise and accessible introduction establishes the relevance of cultural anthropology for the modern world through an integrated ethnographically informed approach The book develops readers understanding and engagement by addressing key issues such as What it means to be human The key characteristics of culture as a concept Relocation and dislocation of peoples The conflict between political social and ethnic boundaries The concept of economic anthropology Cultural Anthropology 101 includes case studies from both classic and contemporary ethnography as well as a comprehensive bibliography and index It is an essential guide for students approaching this fascinating field for the first time

Bonobo Frans B. M. de Waal, Frans Lanting, 2023-11-10 This remarkable primate with the curious name is challenging established views on human evolution The bonobo least known of the great apes is a female centered egalitarian species that has been dubbed the make love not war primate by specialists In bonobo society females form alliances to intimidate males sexual behavior in virtually every partner combination replaces aggression and serves many social functions and unrelated groups mingle instead of fighting The species s most striking achievement is not tool use or warfare but sensitivity to others In the first book to combine and compare data from captivity and the field Frans de Waal a world renowned primatologist and Frans Lanting an internationally acclaimed wildlife photographer present the most up to date perspective available on the bonobo Focusing on social organization de Waal compares the bonobo with its better known relative the chimpanzee The bonobo s relatively nonviolent behavior and the tendency for females to dominate males confront the evolutionary models derived from observing the chimpanzee s male power politics cooperative hunting and intergroup warfare Further the bonobo s frequent imaginative sexual contacts along with its low reproduction rate belie any notion that the sole natural purpose of sex is procreation Humans share over 98 percent of their genetic material with the bonobo and the chimpanzee Is it possible that the peaceable bonobo has retained traits of our common ancestor that we find hard to recognize in ourselves Eight superb full color photo essays offer a rare view of the bonobo in its native habitat in the rain forests of Zaire as well as in zoos and research facilities Additional photographs and highlighted interviews with leading bonobo experts complement the text This book points the way to viable alternatives to male based models of human evolution and will add considerably to debates on the origin of our species Anyone interested in primates gender issues evolutionary psychology and exceptional wildlife photography will find a fascinating companion in Bonobo The Forgotten Ape
