Archer, Susan Fischler, Maria Wyke, 1994-04-01 This collection of essays represents research currently being undertaken on women s lives and their representations in various ancient societies It provides a forum for the exchange and development of ideas and methods at a crucial period in the growth of women s studies in the UK Anti-Vivisection and the Profession of Medicine in Britain A.W.H. Bates, 2017-07-24 This book is open access under a CC BY 4 0 license This book explores the social history of the anti vivisection movement in Britain from its nineteenth century beginnings until the 1960s It discusses the ethical principles that inspired the movement and the socio political background that explains its rise and fall Opposition to vivisection began when medical practitioners complained it was contrary to the compassionate ethos of their profession Christian anti cruelty organizations took up the cause out of concern that callousness among the professional classes would have a demoralizing effect on the rest of society As the nineteenth century drew to a close the influence of transcendentalism Eastern religions and the spiritual revival led new age social reformers to champion a more holistic approach to science and dismiss reliance on vivisection as a materialistic oversimplification In response scientists claimed it was necessary to remain objective and unemotional in order to perform the experiments necessary for medical progress The Grape Genome Dario Cantu, M. Andrew Walker, 2019-11-13 This book describes the current state of international grape genomics with a focus on the latest findings tools and strategies employed in genome sequencing and analysis and genetic mapping of important agronomic traits It also discusses how these are having a direct impact on outcomes for grape breeders and the international grape research community While V. vinifera is a model species it is not always appreciated that its cultivation usually requires the use of other Vitis species as rootstocks The book discusses genetic diversity within the Vitis genus the available genetic resources for breeding and the available genomic resources for other Vitis species Grapes Vitis vinifera spp vinifera have been a source of food and wine since their domestication from their wild progenitor Vitis vinifera ssp sylvestris around 8 000 years ago and they are now the world s most valuable horticultural crop In addition to being economically important V. vinifera is also a model organism for the study of perennial fruit crops for two reasons Firstly its ability to be transformed and micropropagated via somatic embryogenesis and secondly its relatively small genome size of 500 Mb The economic importance of grapes made V. vinifera an obvious early candidate for genomic sequencing and accordingly two draft genomes were reported in 2007 Remarkably these were the first genomes of any fruiting crop to be sequenced and only the fourth for flowering plants Although riddled with gaps and potentially omitting large regions of repetitive sequences the two genomes have provided valuable insights into grape genomes Cited in over 2 000 articles the genome has served as a reference in more than 3 000 genome wide transcriptional analyses Further recent advances in DNA sequencing and bioinformatics are enabling the assembly of reference grade genome references for more grape genotypes revealing the exceptional extent of structural variation in the species

Multi-dimensional Approaches Towards New Technology Ashish Bharadwaj, Vishwas H. Devaiah, Indranath Gupta, 2018-07-23 This open access edited book captures the complexities and conflicts arising at the interface of intellectual property rights IPR and competition law To do so it discusses four specific themes a policies governing functioning of standard setting organizations SSOs transparency and incentivising future innovation b issue of royalties for standard essential patents SEPs and related disputes c due process principles procedural fairness and best practices in competition law and d coherence of patent policies and consonance with competition law to support innovation in new technologies Many countries have formulated policies and re-oriented their economies to foster technological innovation as it is seen as a major source of economic growth At the same time there have been tensions between patent laws and competition laws despite the fact that both are intended to enhance consumer welfare In this regard licensing of SEPs has been debated extensively although in most instances innovators and implementers successfully negotiate licensing of SEPs However there have been instances where disagreements on royalty base and royalty rates terms of licensing bundling of patents in licenses pooling of licenses have arisen and this has resulted in a surge of litigation in various jurisdictions and also drawn the attention of competition anti-trust regulators Further a lingering lack of consensus among scholars industry experts and regulators regarding solutions and techniques that are apposite in these matters across jurisdictions has added to the confusion This book looks at the processes adopted by the competition anti trust regulators to apply the principles of due process and procedural fairness in investigating abuse of dominance cases against innovators The Species Directory of the Marine Fauna and Flora of the British Isles and Surrounding Seas Christine M. Howson, B. E. Picton, 1997
