Heirs to Forgotten Kingdoms Gerard Russell, 2014-11-20 Despite its reputation for religious intolerance the Middle East has long sheltered many distinctive and strange faiths one regards the Greek prophets as incarnations of God another reveres Lucifer in the form of a peacock and yet another believes that their followers are reincarnated beings who have existed in various forms for thousands of years These religions represent the last vestiges of the magnificent civilizations in ancient history Persia Babylon Egypt in the time of the Pharaohs Their followers have learned how to survive foreign attacks and the perils of assimilation But today with the Middle East in turmoil they face greater challenges than ever before In Heirs to Forgotten Kingdoms former diplomat Gerard Russell ventures to the distant nearly impassable regions where these mysterious religions still cling to survival He lives alongside the Mandaeans and Ezidis of Iraq the Zoroastrians of Iran the Copts of Egypt and others He learns their histories participates in their rituals and comes to understand the threats to their communities Historically a tolerant faith Islam has since the early 20th century witnessed the rise of militant extremist sects This development along with the rippling effects of Western invasion now pose existential threats to these minority faiths And as more and more of their youth flee to the West in search of greater freedoms and job prospects these religions face the dire possibility of extinction Drawing on his extensive travels and archival research Russell provides an essential record of the past present and perilous future of these remarkable religions

Golkar of Indonesia David Reeve, 1985 The Suharto regime of Indonesia put forward the concept of functional groups golkar as an alternative to the Western style political party Set against the tumultuous background of Indonesian politics since independence this volume tells the fascinating story of how the golkar concept evolved and eventually formed the basis of the representative system of government in Indonesia

The First Century After Beatrice Amin Maalouf,1994 A French entomologist attending a symposium in Cairo finds a cruious kind of bean being on a market stall It is claimed the beans derived from the scarab beetle have magic powers specifically the power to guarantee the brith of a male infant and when the entomologist does some research in to the matter discovering the incidence of female birth has become increasingly rare he is left in no doubt that the world has entered intoa critical phase of its history As this beloved daughter Beatrice approaches maturity the entomologist and his partner question the validity of gender bias and attempt to redress the growing imbalance before it reaches irreversible proportions But in the poverty and famine of the South where male children can mean the difference between survival and starvation the popularity of the scarab beans is already taking devastating effect Atma-nirvriti Krishna Menon,1952 The Wandering Mind Michael C. Corballis,2015-04-15 Corballis argues that mind wandering has many constructive and adaptive features These range from mental time travel the wandering back and forth through time not only to plan our futures based on past experience but also to generate a continuous sense of who we are to the ability to inhabit the minds of others increasing empathy and social understanding Through mind wandering we invent tell stories and expand our mental horizons Mind wandering hardly the sign of a faulty network or aimless distraction actually underwrites creativity whether as a Wordsworth wandering lonely as a cloud or an Einstein imagining himself travelling on a beam of light Corballis takes readers on a mental journey in chapters that can be savored piecemeal as the minds of readers wander in different ways and sometimes have limited attentional capacity Prisoner of Love Jean Genet,2023-05-31 Starting in 1970 Jean Genet petty thief prostitute modernist master spent two years in the Palestinian refugee camps in Jordan Always an outcast himself Genet was drawn to this displaced people an attraction that was to prove as complicated for him as it was enduring Prisoner of Love written some ten years later when many of the men Genet had known had been killed and he himself was dying is a beautifully observed description of that time and those men as well as a reaffirmation of the author s commitment not only to the Palestinian revolution but to rebellion itself For Genet s most overtly political book is also his most personal the last step in the unrepentantly sacrilegious pilgrimage first recorded in The Thief s Journal and a searching meditation packed with visions ruses and contradictions on such life and death issues as the politics of the image and the seductive and treacherous character of identity Genet s final masterpiece is a lyrical and philosophical voyage to the bloody intersection of oppression terror and desire at the heart of the contemporary world Give a Man a Fish James Ferguson,2015-05-20 In Give a Man a Fish James Ferguson examines the rise of social welfare programs in southern Africa in which states make cash payments to their low income citizens More than thirty percent of South Africa s population receive such payments even as pundits elsewhere proclaim the neoliberal death of the welfare state These programs successes at reducing poverty under conditions of mass unemployment Ferguson argues provide an opportunity for rethinking contemporary capitalism and for developing new forms of political mobilization Interested in an emerging politics of distribution Ferguson shows how new demands for direct income payments including so called basic income require us to reexamine the relation between production and distribution and to ask new questions about markets livelihoods labor and the future of progressive politics
