

Parenting Capacity Assessment for the Court in a Multifamily Group Setting

Roberta Di Pasquale^{1*} and Andrea Rivolta²

¹ Dipartimento di Scienze Umane e Sociali, Università degli Studi di Bergamo, Bergamo, Italy; ² Servizio Tutela Minori, Sondrio, Italy

Parenting capacity assessment in court evaluations is a particularly complex task, given that it is necessary to consider the vast array of distinct and interrelated aspects and abilities which represent parenting, as well as the elevated number of contextual levels that influence parenting quality. The perspective we want to introduce regards the potentiality of the multifamily group as the elective observational setting in parenting capacity assessment.

Keywords: child maltreatment, parenting capacity, parenting assessment models, multifamily group, multifamily observational setting

PARENTING CAPACITY ASSESSMENT: DIFFICULTIES AND OBJECTIVES

Assessing parenting capacity constitutes a crucial task both in the process of child protection in cases of alleged or substantiated parent mistreatment and also regarding decisions relative to child placement in cases of highly conflictual marital separation. According to Budd (2001), several sources of difficulty that specifically characterize parenting capacity assessment are identifiable.

The first source of difficulty regards the lack of universally accepted standards relative to the minimum level for attributing sufficient parenting capacity. The absence of shared references exposes the evaluators to the use of vague and subjective criteria, based on their own experiences and personal assumptions.

The second source of difficulty concerns the typically obligatory nature of the assessment context (in which the parenting capacity assessment takes place), which places parents under high levels of stress linked to the involvement of the courts and to eventual consequences resulting from a negative evaluation. This causes defensive behavior in parents as well as the tendency to alter their usual ways of thinking and their personal conduct for reasons of social acceptability, with inevitable repercussions on the reliability and validity of the gathered information.

The third source of difficulty is related to the shortage of instruments specifically designed to measure parenting capacity, instruments that can't be replaced validly by traditional methods of assessment of psychological functioning (e.g., cognitive and personality tests).

Several authors (Reder, 1991; Budd and Holdsworth, 1996; Azar et al., 1998; Reder et al., 2003; Budd, 2005; Jones, 2010), have given themselves the objectives of standardizing parenting capacity assessment models, with the aim of overcoming these difficulties, making their best attempt to defining more specifically the area to be considered and the most appropriate methodologies to be employed in this task. The aforementioned models indicate various areas of parent functioning that are crucial but also difficult to assess.

Puma, 2006 Since its beginning in 1965 as a part of the War on Poverty Head Start's goal has been to boost the school readiness of low income children Based on a whole child model the program provides comprehensive services that include pre school education medical dental and mental health care nutrition services and efforts to help parents foster their child's development Head Start services are designed to be responsive to each child's and family's ethnic cultural and linguistic heritage The Congressionally mandated Head Start Impact Study was conducted across 84 nationally representative grantee delegate agencies Approximately 5 000 newly entering 3 and 4 year old children applying for Head Start were randomly assigned to either a Head Start group that had access to Head Start program services or to a non Head Start group that could enrol in available community non Head Start services selected by their parents Data collection began in fall 2002 and is scheduled to continue through 2006 following children through the spring of their 1st grade year The study quantifies the impact of Head Start separately for 3 and 4 year old children across child cognitive social emotional and health domains as well as on parenting practices This book is essential reading for those in the education field Child Neglect Diane DePanfilis, 2006 Parenting in Poor Environments Deborah Ghate, Neal Hazel, Policy Research Bureau (Great Britain), 2002 A study of the effect of poor environments on parenting The authors explore what professionals and policy makers can do to assist families living in poverty Assessment of Older Adults with Diminished Capacity, 2008 Handbook on Family and Community Engagement Sam Redding, Marilyn Murphy, Pam Sheley, 2011-12-01 Thirty six of the best thinkers on family and community engagement were assembled to produce this Handbook and they come to the task with varied backgrounds and lines of endeavor Each could write volumes on the topics they address in the Handbook and quite a few have The authors tell us what they know in plain language succinctly presented in short chapters with practical suggestions for states districts and schools The vignettes in the Handbook give us vivid pictures of the real life of parents teachers and kids In all their portrayal is one of optimism and celebration of the goodness that encompasses the diversity of families schools and communities across our nation Assessment in Early Childhood Education Sue C.

Wortham,2013-11-01 For Assessment courses in Early Childhood Education One of the most accessible and practical textbooks available on assessing young children from infancy through age 8 It provides the full range of types of assessment and how when and why to use them An excellent introduction to assessing young children Assessment in Early Childhood Education continues with the inclusion of all types of assessments that can be used with infants and young children Key changes and updates to this edition include updated and streamlined figures examples and models of assessment that aid pre service teachers to learn how to apply the principles of quality assessments new activities at the end of the chapters provide opportunities for students to apply their own performance activities to demonstrate understanding of chapter contents the effects of No Child Left Behind have been updated newly revised information on children from diverse cultures and languages and children with disabilities has been added and information on new and current trends toward accountability are discussed as well as the impact of high stakes testing Sámi Educational History in a Comparative International Perspective Otso Kortekangas,Pigga Keskitalo,Jukka Nyysönen,Andrej Kotljarchuk,Merja Paksuniemi,David

Sjögren,2019-09-04 This book provides a comprehensive overview of S mi education in a historical and internationally comparative perspective Despite the cross national character of the S mi population academic literature on S mi education has so far been published within the different nation states in the S mi area and rarely in English Exploring indigenous educational history around the world this collection spans from Asia to Oceania to S pmi and the Americas The chapters frame S mi school history within an international context of indigenous and minority education In doing so two narrative threads are established both traditional history of education and perspectives on the decolonisation of education This pioneering book will appeal to students and scholars of S mi education as well as indigenous education around the world

The Child's World, Third Edition Jan Horwath,Dendy Platt,2018-12-06 This definitive textbook provides accessible information on best practice for assessing the needs and strengths of vulnerable children and their families It explores the challenges that practitioners face routinely with suggestions as to how to address them as well as the established areas for assessment of children s developmental needs parenting ability and motivation and socio economic factors This new edition has been extended substantially to include recent practice policy and theoretical developments such as understanding the lived experience of children young people and family members It also considers children s neurological development assessing parental capacity to change early help assessments emerging areas of practice such as child sexual exploitation and working with asylum seeking and trafficked children Crucially this updated edition takes a broader approach in offering relevant information to a range of professionals working with vulnerable children The importance of inter professional working is emphasised throughout
