Christus Victor Gustaf Aulen, 2003-09-05 Gustaf Aulen's classic work Christus Victor has long been a standard text on the atonement Aulen applies history of ideas methodology to historical theology in tracing the development of three views of the atonement Aulen asserts that in traditional histories of the doctrine of the atonement only two views have usually been presented the objective Anselmian and the subjective Abelardian views According to Aulen however there is another type of atonement doctrine in which Christ overcomes the hostile powers that hold humanity in subjection at the same time that God in Christ reconciles the world to Himself This view he calls the classic idea of the atonement Because of its predominance in the New Testament in patristic writings and in the theology of Luther Aulen holds that the classic type may be called the distinctively Christian idea of the atonement

American Contempt for Liberty Walter E. Williams, 2015-05-01 Throughout history personal liberty free markets and peaceable voluntary exchanges have been roundly denounced by tyrants and often greeted with suspicion by the general public Unfortunately Americans have increasingly accepted the tyrannical ideas of reduced private property rights and reduced rights to profits and have become enamored with restrictions on personal liberty and control by government In this latest collection of essays selected from his syndicated newspaper columns Walter E Williams takes on a range of controversial issues surrounding race education the environment the Constitution health care foreign policy and more Skewering the self righteous and self important forces throughout society he makes the case for what he calls the the moral superiority of personal liberty and its main ingredient limited government With his usual straightforward insights and honesty Williams reveals the loss of liberty in nearly every important aspect of our lives the massive decline in our values and the moral tragedy that has befallen Americans today our belief that it is acceptable for the government to forcibly use one American to serve the purposes of another
