In Custody Anita Desai, 2012-09-25 In this sensitive portrayal of human nature Anita Desai one of

India's foremost writers paint an intimate portrait of lives impacted by the quest for identity and purpose. Deven, a Hindi lecturer in small town Mirpore, lives a humdrum existence. A chance to interview Nur, India's greatest living Urdu poet, offers him an escape from his dreary life. But the Nur he meets is an enfeebled man surrounded by clashing wives and preying sycophants. Deven's decision to be the custodian of Nur's verse gives birth to an unusual alliance between the two. Stimulating and thought provoking. In Custody is a brilliant parable lamenting the gradual corrosion of culture and tradition in the face of modernity and a dazzling study of the complexity of human relationships. Holy Feast and Holy Fast Caroline Walker Bynum, 1988-01-07 In the period between 1200 and 1500 in western Europe a number of religious women gained widespread veneration and even canonization as saints for their extraordinary devotion to the Christian eucharist. Supernatural multiplications of food and drink and miracles of bodily manipulation including stigmata and inedia (living without eating). The occurrence of such phenomena sheds much light on the nature of medieval society and medieval religion. It also forms a chapter in the history of women. Previous scholars have occasionally noted the various phenomena in isolation from each other and have sometimes applied modern medical or psychological theories to them. Using materials based on saints' lives and the religious and mystical writings of medieval women and men, Caroline Walker Bynum uncovers the patterns lying behind these aspects of women's religiosity and behind the fascination men and women felt for such miracles and devotional practices. She argues that food lies at the heart of much of women's piety. Women renounced ordinary food through fasting in order to prepare for receiving extraordinary food in the eucharist. They also offered themselves as food in miracles of feeding and bodily manipulation. Providing both functionalist and phenomenological explanations, Bynum explores the ways in which food practices enabled women to exert control within the family and to define their religious vocations. She also describes what women meant by seeing their own bodies and God's body as food and what men meant when they too associated women with food and flesh. The author's interpretation of women's piety offers a new view of the nature of medieval asceticism and drawing upon both anthropology and feminist theory, she illuminates the distinctive features of women's use of symbols. Rejecting presentist interpretations of women as exploited or masochistic, she shows the power and creativity of women's writing and women's lives. Feasting and Fasting in Opera Pierpaolo Polzonetti, 2021-11-11 Convivial beginnings: The symposium and the birth of opera. The Renaissance banquet as multimedia art. Orpheus at the cardinal's table. Eating at the opera house. Tastes: funny, tragic, and comic meals from Monteverdi to Mozart. Comedy as embodiment in Monteverdi and Mozart. The insatiable tyrants and libertines. Indulging in comic opera: gastronomy as identity. The effects of feasting and fasting. Coffee and chocolate from Bach to Puccini. Verdi and the laws of gastromusicology. The Callas diet. The Home and the World Rabindranath Tagore, 2022-07-14 Written by the 1913 winner of the Nobel Prize in Literature, Rabindranath Tagore, The Home and the World follows the characters of Nikhil and Sandip, who have very different ideals around using violence to reach their goals. The novel illustrates the battle Tagore had with himself between the ideas of Western culture and revolution against the Western culture This is ultimately shown through Nikhil and Sandip Covering themes such as truth love and union religion vs nationalism and the role of women The Home and the World gives a real insight into societal problems in the Bengal region following the turn of the 19th century Rabindranath Tagore 1861 1941 was an Indian poet and philosopher He was the first non European to receive the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1913 Rebellious to classical studies he was sent to England to study law Back in India he devoted himself to poetry and musical dramas and in 1883 began writing his collection Chants de l aurore Dreaming of harmony between men he wrote in 1904 a political essay in favour of the Independence of India In 1910 L Offrande lyrique was published translated by Andr Gide At the end of his life he supported Gandhi in his struggle

Raiding, Trading, and Feasting Laura L. Junker, 1999-09-01 As early as the first millennium A D the Philippine archipelago formed the easternmost edge of a vast network of Chinese Southeast Asian Indian and Arab traders Items procured through maritime trade became key symbols of social prestige and political power for the Philippine chiefly elite Raiding Trading and Feasting presents the first comprehensive analysis of how participation in this trade related to broader changes in the political economy of these Philippine island societies By combining archaeological evidence with historical sources Laura Junker is able to offer a more nuanced examination of the nature and evolution of Philippine maritime trading chiefdoms Most importantly she demonstrates that it is the dynamic interplay between investment in the maritime luxury goods trade and other evolving aspects of local political economies rather than foreign contacts that led to the cyclical coalescence of larger and more complex chiefdoms at various times in Philippine history A broad spectrum of historical and ethnographic sources ranging from tenth century Chinese tributary trade records to turn of the century accounts of chiefly feasts of merit highlights both the diversity and commonality in evolving chiefly economic strategies within the larger political landscape of the archipelago The political ascendance of individual polities the emergence of more complex forms of social ranking and long term changes in chiefly economies are materially documented through a synthesis of archaeological research at sites dating from the Metal Age late first millennium B C to the colonial period The author draws on her archaeological fieldwork in the Tanjay River basin to investigate the long term dynamics of chiefly political economy in a single region Reaching beyond the Philippine archipelago this study contributes to the larger anthropological debate concerning ecological and cultural factors that shape political economy in chiefdoms and early states It attempts to address the question of why Philippine polities like early historic kingdoms elsewhere in Southeast Asia have a segmentary political structure in which political leaders are dependent on prestige goods exchanges personal charisma and ritual pageantry to maintain highly personalized power bases Raiding Trading and Feasting is a volume of impressive scholarship and substantial scope unmatched in the anthropological and historical literature It will be welcomed by Pacific and Asian historians and anthropologists and those interested in the theoretical issues of chiefdoms Sold Patricia

The Novels of Anita Desai Manmohan Krishna Bhatnagar, Mittapalli Rajeshwar, 2000 Anita Desai's work represents a unique blending of the Indian and the Western. Her novels catch the bewilderment of the individual psyche confronted with the overbearing socio-cultural environment and the ever beckoning modern promise of self-gratification and self-fulfilment in the face of this dual onslaught. Her protagonists, male or female, Maya, Sita, Monisha, and Amla, Sarah, Nanda, and Raka, Bim, and Tara, Devan, Baumgartner, are seen poised tentatively at different junctures of the philosophic spectrum. Applying sociological, psychoanalytic, structural, and other approaches of formal textual analysis, the essays in the present anthology take a fresh look at established works, revealing aspects of study hitherto unexplored. They offer critically insightful probes into individual novels and explore the deployment of images, symbols, and other poetic devices. Besides diverse narrative strategies, an indispensable source book for students, researchers, and teachers of Indian English and Commonwealth literature in general and fiction and Anita Desai in particular, an insightful companion for research in sociology and women studies.

Chocolat Joanne Harris, 2010-12-03 When the exotic stranger Vianne Rocher arrives in the old French village of Lansquenet and opens a chocolate boutique called La Celeste Praline directly across the square from the church, Father Reynaud identifies her as a serious danger to his flock. It is the beginning of Lent, the traditional season of self-denial. The priest says she'll be out of business by Easter. To make matters worse, Vianne does not go to church and has a penchant for superstition. Like her mother, she can read Tarot cards. But she begins to win over customers with her smiles, her intuition for everyone's favourites, and her delightful confections. Her shop provides a place too for secrets to be whispered, grievances aired. She begins to shake up the rigid morality of the community. Vianne's plans for an Easter Chocolate Festival divide the whole community. Can the solemnity of the Church compare with the pagan passion of a chocolate clair? For the first time here is a novel in which chocolate enjoys its true importance, emerging as an agent of transformation. Rich, clever, and mischievous, reminiscent of a folk tale or fable, this is a triumphant read with a memorable character at its heart. Says Harris, "You might see Vianne as an archetype or a mythical figure. I prefer to see her as the lone gunslinger who blows into the town, has a showdown with the man in the black hat, then moves on relentlessly. But on another level, she is a perfectly real person with real insecurities and a very human desire for love and acceptance. Her qualities too—kindness, love, tolerance—are very human. Vianne and her young daughter Anouk come into town on Shrove Tuesday. Carnivals make us uneasy," says Harris, "because of what they represent: the residual memory of blood sacrifice. It is after all from the word carne that the term arises of pagan celebration. And they represent a loss of inhibition: carnival time is a time at which almost anything is possible." The book became an international best-seller and was optioned to film quickly. The Oscar-nominated movie with its star-studded cast, including Juliette Binoche, The English Patient, and Judi Dench, Shakespeare in Love, was directed by Lasse Hallström.

whose previous film The Cider House Rules based on a John Irving novel also looks at issues of community and moral standards though in a less lighthearted vein The idea for the book came from a comment her husband made one day while he was immersed in a football game on TV It was a throwaway comment designed to annoy and it did It was along the lines of Chocolate is to women what football is to men The idea stuck and Harris began thinking that people have these conflicting feelings about chocolate and that a lot of people who have very little else in common relate to chocolate in more or less the same kind of way It became a kind of challenge to see exactly how much of a story I could get which was uniquely centred around chocolate Rich with metaphor and gorgeous writing sit back and gorge yourself on Chocolat Making a Man Gwen Hyman, 2009 Gruel and truffles wine and gin opium and cocaine Making a Man Gentlemanly Appetites in the Nineteenth Century British Novel addresses consumption of food drink and drugs in the conspicuously consuming nineteenth century in order to explore the question of what in fact makes a man in novels of the period Gwen Hyman analyzes the rituals of dining room drawing room opium den and cocaine lab and the ways in which these alimentary behaviors make unmake and remake the gentlemanly body Making a Man makes use of food history and theory literary criticism anthropology gender theory economics and social criticism to read gentlemanly consumers from Mr Woodhouse the gruel eater in Jane Austen's Emma through the vampire and the men who hunt him in Bram Stoker's Dracula Hyman argues that appetite is a crucial means of casting light on the elusive identity of the gentleman a figure who is the embodiment of power and yet is hardly embodied in Victorian literature Fasting and Feasting Adam Federman, 2018-09-14 For more than 30 years Patience Gray author of the celebrated cookbook Honey from a Weed lived in a remote area of Puglia in southernmost Italy She lived without electricity modern plumbing or a telephone grew much of her own food and gathered and ate wild plants alongside her neighbors in this economically impoverished region She was fond of saying that she wrote only for herself and her friends yet her growing reputation brought a steady stream of international visitors to her door This simple and isolated life she chose for herself may help explain her relative obscurity when compared to the other great food writers of her time M F K Fisher Elizabeth David and Julia Child So it is not surprising that when Gray died in 2005 the BBC described her as an almost forgotten culinary star Yet her influence particularly among chefs and other food writers has had a lasting and profound effect on the way we view and celebrate good food and regional cuisines Gray's prescience was unrivaled She wrote about what today we would call the Mediterranean diet and Slow Food from foraging to eating locally long before they became part of the cultural mainstream Imagine if Michael Pollan or Barbara Kingsolver had spent several decades living among Italian Greek and Catalan peasants recording their recipes and the significance of food and food gathering to their way of life In Fasting and Feasting biographer Adam Federman tells the remarkable and until now untold life story of Patience Gray from her privileged and intellectual upbringing in England to her trials as a single mother during World War II to her career working as a designer editor translator and author and describing her travels and culinary adventures in later years A fascinating and spirited woman Patience Gray was very much a part of her times but very clearly ahead of them
