Pounder's Marine Diesel Engines and Gas Turbines Malcolm Latache, 2020-12-01 Pounder's Marine Diesel Engines and Gas Turbines Tenth Edition gives engineering cadets marine engineers ship operators and managers insights into currently available engines and auxiliary equipment and trends for the future This new edition introduces new engine models that will be most commonly installed in ships over the next decade as well as the latest legislation and pollutant emissions procedures Since publication of the last edition in 2009 a number of emission control areas ECAs have been established by the International Maritime Organization IMO in which exhaust emissions are subject to even more stringent controls In addition there are now rules that affect new ships and their emission of CO₂ measured as a product of cargo carried Provides the latest emission control technologies such as SCR and water scrubbers Contains complete updates of legislation and pollutant emission procedures Includes the latest emission control technologies and expands upon remote monitoring and control of engines

Simulating Combustion Günter P. Merker, Christian Schwarz, Gunnar Stiesch, Frank Otto, 2005-12-17 The numerical simulation of combustion processes in internal combustion engines including also the formation of pollutants has become increasingly important in the recent years and today the simulation of those processes has already become an indispensable tool when developing new combustion concepts While pure thermodynamic models are well established tools that are in use for the simulation of the transient behavior of complex systems for a long time the phenomenological models have become more important in the recent years and have also been implemented in these simulation programs In contrast to this the three dimensional simulation of in cylinder combustion i.e. the detailed integrated and continuous simulation of the process chain injection mixture formation ignition heat release due to combustion and formation of pollutants has been significantly improved but there is still a number of challenging problems to solve regarding for example the exact description of processes like the structure of turbulence during combustion as well as the appropriate choice of the numerical grid While chapter 2 includes a short introduction of functionality and operating modes of internal combustion engines the basics of kinetic reactions are presented in chapter 3 In chapter 4 the physical and chemical processes taking place in the combustion chamber are described Chapter 5 is about phenomenological multi zone models and in chapter 6 the formation of pollutants is described
