Bastard Culture! Mirko Tobias Schäfer,2011 The computer and particularly the Internet have been represented as enabling technologies turning consumers into users and users into producers The unfolding online cultural production by users has been framed enthusiastically as participatory culture But while many studies of user activities and the use of the Internet tend to romanticize emerging media practices this book steps beyond the usual framework and analyzes user participation in the context of accompanying popular and scholarly discourse as well as the material aspects of design and their relation to the practices of design and appropriation

The Public Policy Theory Primer Kevin B. Smith,Christopher Larimer,2018-05-15 Public policy is a broad and interdisciplinary area of study and research in the field tends to reflect this

Yet for those teaching and studying public policy the disjointed nature of the field can be confusing and cumbersome. This text provides a consistent and coherent framework for uniting the field of public policy. Authors Kevin B Smith and Christopher W Larimer offer an organized and comprehensive overview of the core questions and concepts major theoretical frameworks, primary methodological approaches and key controversies and debates in each subfield of policy studies from the policy process and policy analysis to program evaluation and policy implementation. The third edition has been updated throughout to include the latest scholarship and approaches in the field including new and expanded coverage of behavioral economics, the narrative policy framework, Fourth Generation implementation studies, the policy regime approach, field experiments and the debate of program versus policy implementation studies. Now with an appendix of sample comprehensive exam questions, The Public Policy Theory Primer remains an indispensable text for the systematic study of public policy.

Exploration of the Seas National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Ocean Studies Board, Committee on Exploration of the Seas, 2003-11-04

In the summer of 1803 Thomas Jefferson sent Meriwether Lewis and William Clark on a journey to establish an American presence in a land of unqualified natural resources and riches. Is it fitting that on the 200th anniversary of that expedition the United States together with international partners should embark on another journey of exploration in a vastly more extensive region of remarkable potential for discovery? Although the oceans cover more than 70 percent of our planet's surface much of the ocean has been investigated in only a cursory sense and many areas have not been investigated at all. Exploration of the Seas assesses the feasibility and potential value of implementing a major coordinated international program of ocean exploration and discovery. The study committee surveys national and international ocean programs and strategies for cooperation between governments, institutions and ocean scientists and explorers identifying strengths, weaknesses and gaps in these activities. Based primarily on existing documents the committee summarizes priority areas for ocean research and exploration and examines existing plans for advancing ocean exploration and knowledge.

Fire and Climatic Change in Temperate Ecosystems of the Western Americas

Thomas T. Veblen, William L. Baker, Gloria Montenegro, Thomas W. Swetnam, 2006-05-10

Both fire and climatic variability have monumental impacts on the dynamics of temperate ecosystems. These impacts can sometimes be extreme or devastating as seen in recent El Nino/La Nina cycles and in uncontrolled fire occurrences. This volume brings together research conducted in western North and South America areas of a great deal of collaborative work on the influence of people and climate change on fire regimes. In order to give perspective to patterns of change over time it emphasizes the integration of paleoecological studies with studies of modern ecosystems. Data from a range of spatial scales from individual plants to communities and ecosystems to landscape and regional levels are included. Contributions come from fire ecology, paleoecology, biogeography, paleoclimatology, landscape and ecosystem ecology, ecological modeling, forest management, plant community ecology and plant morphology. The book gives a synthetic overview of methods data and simulation models for evaluating fire regime processes in forests shrublands and woodlands and assembles case studies of fire climate and land use histories The unique approach of this book gives researchers the benefits of a north south comparison as well as the integration of paleoecological histories current ecosystem dynamics and modeling of future changes Digital Material Marianne van den Boomen,2009 This is a compelling study of the often controversial role and meaning of the new media and digital cultures in contemporary society Three decades of societal and cultural alignment of new media yielded to a host of innovations trials and problems accompanied by versatile popular and academic discourse New Media Studies crystallized internationally into an established academic discipline which begs the question where do we stand now which new issues have emerged now that new media are taken for granted and which riddles remain unsolved and is contemporary digital culture indeed all about you or do we still not really understand the digital machinery and how it constitutes us as you From desktop metaphors to Web 2 0 ecosystems from touch screens to blogging to e learning from role playing games to Cybergoth music to wireless dreams this timely volume offers a showcase of the most up to date research in the field from what may be called a digital materialist perspective
