Goddesses in Everywoman Jean Shinoda Bolen,2004-03-02 A classic work of female psychology that uses seven archetypal goddesses as a way of describing behavior patterns and personality traits is being introduced to the next generation of readers with a new introduction by the author Psychoanalyst Jean Bolen s career soared in the early 1980s when Goddesses in Everywoman was published Thousands of women readers became fascinated with identifying their own inner goddesses and using these archetypes to guide themselves to greater self esteem creativity and happiness Bolen s radical idea was that just as women used to be unconscious of the powerful effects that cultural stereotypes had on them they were also unconscious of powerful archetypal forces within them that influence what they do and how they feel and which account for major differences among them Bolen believes that an understanding of these inner patterns and their interrelationships offers reassuring true to life alternatives that take women far beyond such restrictive dichotomies as masculine feminine mother lover careerist housewife And she demonstrates in this book how understanding them can provide the key to self knowledge and wholeness Dr Bolen introduced these patterns in the guise of seven archetypal goddesses or personality types with whom all women could identify from the autonomous Artemis and the cool Athena to the nurturing Demeter and the creative Aphrodite and explains how to decide which to cultivate and which to overcome and how to tap the power of these enduring archetypes to become a better heroine in one s own life story

Human Adaptations to the Last Glacial Maximum João

Cascalheira, Isabell Schmidt, 2019-11-04 The book assembles new insights into humanity's social, cultural, and economic developments during the Last Glacial Maximum in Western Europe and adjacent regions. It gathers original up-to-date research results on the Solutrean techno-complex, reflecting four major fields of research: data from current excavations, analysis of lithic assemblages, new results from studies on climatic conditions and human environmental interactions, and insights into artistic expressions. New methodological and analytical approaches are applied, providing significant contributions to Paleolithic research beyond the Last Glacial Maximum.

Christ the End of the Law Robert Badenas, 1987-03-01 In this close textual analysis, Badenas uses the term telos as his starting point to delve into a closer examination of the Greek-speaking ancient world. The study divides into three key sections: a history of exegesis, a lexical study of telos, and an exegetical study of Rom 10:4. This final part enables an in-depth analysis of the place and role of Rom 10:4 within Romans 9-11 and, in turn, of Romans 9-11 within Paul's argument more generally. In so doing, Badenas is able to offer a more informed judgement of the use of the statement "Christ is the end of the law," contributing insightfully to an abundance of material which proclaims the statement without acknowledgement of its greater context.

Memoirs of Pancho Villa Martín Luis Guzmán, 1965 This is a tale that might be told around a campfire night after night in the midst of a military campaign. The kinetic and garrulous Pancho Villa, talking on and on about battles and men bursting out with hearty masculine laughter, weeping unashamed for fallen comrades, casually mentioning his hotheadedness, one of my violent outbursts which sent one two or a dozen men before the firing squad, recounting amours and always, always protesting dedication to the Revolutionary cause and the interests of the people. Villa saw himself as the champion, eventually almost the sole champion of the Mexican people. He fought for them, he said, and opponents who called him bandit and murderer were hypocrites. This is his story, his account of how it all began when as a peasant boy of sixteen he shot a rich landowner threatening the honor of his sister. This lone starved refugee hiding out in the mountains became the scourge of the Mexican Revolution, the leader of thousands of men and the hero of the masses of the poor. Great battles of the Revolution are described, sometimes as broad sweeps of strategy, sometimes as they developed half hour by half hour. Long dusty horseback forays and cold nights spent pinned down under enemy fire on a mountainside are made vivid and gripping. The assault on Ciudad Juárez in 1911, the battles of Tierra Blanca, of Torreón, of Zacatecas, of Celaya, all are here told with a feeling of great immediacy. This volume ends as Villa and Obregón prepare to engage each other in the war between victorious generals into which the Revolution degenerated before it finally ended. Martín Luis Guzmán, eminent historian of Mexico, knew and traveled with Pancho Villa at various times during the Revolution. General Villa offered young Martín Luis a position as his secretary, but he declined. When many years later some of Villa's private papers, records, and what was apparently the beginning of an autobiography came into Guzmán's hands, he was ideally suited to blend all these into an authentic account of the Revolution as Pancho Villa saw it and of the General's life as known only to Villa himself. The Memoirs were first published in Mexico in 1951, where they were extremely popular; this volume was the first English publication. Virginia H. Taylor, translator in the Spanish Archives of the State of Texas, has accurately captured in English the flavor of the narrative.

Evaluation in Context Geoff Thompson, Laura Alba-Juez, 2014-02-04 It is now an acknowledged fact in the world of linguistics that the concept of evaluation is crucial and that there is very little if any discourse that cannot be analyzed through the prism of its evaluative content This book presents some of the latest developments in the study of this phenomenon Released more than a decade later than Hunston and Thompson's 2000 Evaluation in Text Evaluation in Context is designed as its sequel in an attempt to continue update and extend the different avenues of research opened by the earlier work Both theoretical and empirical studies on the topic are presented with the intention of scrutinizing as many of its dimensions as possible by not only looking at evaluative texts but also considering the aspects of the discursive context that affect the final evaluative meaning at both the production and reception stages of the evaluative act The editors' main objective has been to gather contributions which investigate the manifold faces and phases of evaluation by presenting a wide variety of perspectives that include different linguistic theories e.g. Axiological Semantics Functionalism or Politeness Theory different levels of linguistic description e.g. phonological lexical or semantic and different text types and contexts e.g. the evaluation found in ironic discourse the multimodality of media discourse or the world of politics just to name a few The volume can be of use not only for scholars who study the evaluative function of language but also for students who wish to pursue research in the area
