Sunshine Marion Dane Bauer, 2021-05-18 Set in the northern Minnesota wilderness a timeless novel about a boy and his imaginary dog explores the legacy of guilt and blame and what really constitutes a family Newbery Honoree Marion Dane Bauer evokes the summer that changed everything in the life of a boy growing up without a mother Since as far back as Ben can remember it's been him his devoted dad and Sunshine Ben's little dog who rarely leaves Ben's side It was Mom who did the leaving and Ben's about to spend a whole week with his suddenly present mother in the wilds of northern Minnesota On the remote island she calls home Ben will learn to canoe weather the elements and weigh a burning question when will she come back to where she belongs A must read for dog lovers children of divorce and the imaginative and outdoorsy Sunshine is a poignant ultimately hopeful story about self discovery facing big realities and finally forgiving the things and people you can't forget

The Boy on the Beach Tima Kurdi, 2018-04-17 An intimate and poignant memoir about the family of Alan Kurdi the young Syrian boy who became the global emblem for the desperate plight of millions of Syrian refugees and of the many extraordinary journeys the Kurdis have taken spanning countries and continents Alan Kurdi's body washed up on the shore of the Mediterranean Sea on September 2 2015 and overnight the political became personal as the world awoke to the reality of the Syrian refugee crisis Tima Kurdi first saw the shocking photo of her nephew in her home in Vancouver Canada But Tima did not need a photo to understand the truth she and her family had already been living it In The Boy on the Beach Tima recounts her idyllic childhood in Syria where she grew up with her brother Abdullah and other siblings in a tight knit family A strong willed independent woman Tima studied to be a hairdresser and had dreams of seeing the world At twenty two she emigrated to Canada but much of her family remained in Damascus Life as a single mother and immigrant in a new country wasn't always easy and Tima recounts with heart wrenching honesty the anguish of being torn between a new home and the world she'd left behind As Tima struggled to adapt to life in a new land war overtook her homeland Caught in the crosshairs of civil war her family risked everything and fled their homes Tima worked tirelessly to help them find safety but their journey was far from easy Although thwarted by politics hounded by violence and separated by vast distances the Kurdis encountered setbacks at every turn they never gave up hope And when tragedy struck Tima suddenly found herself thrust onto the world stage as an advocate for refugees everywhere a role for which she had never prepared but that allowed her to give voice to those who didn't have an opportunity to speak for themselves From the jasmine scented neighbourhoods of Damascus before the war to the streets of Aleppo during it to the refugee camps of Europe and the leafy suburbs of Vancouver The Boy on the Beach is one family's story of love loss and the persistent search for safe harbour in a devastating time of war

The Ugly Dog Brian Ostrowski, 2017-12-16 For years an ugly dog has called the little pet shop on Washington Street his home During that time he's watched hundreds of dogs come and go But no one's ever bought him One day the old shop owner finds his store overflowing with dogs and hatches a plan to sell every dog in the shop by the end of the day Will this be the day the ugly dog finally finds a new home

White Cargo Don Jordan, Michael Walsh, 2008-03-08 White Cargo is the forgotten story of the thousands of Britons who lived and died in bondage in Britain's American colonies In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries more than 300 000 white people were shipped to America as slaves Urchins were swept up from London's streets to labor in the tobacco fields where life expectancy was no more than two years Brothels were raided to provide breeders for Virginia Hopeful migrants were duped into signing as indentured servants unaware they would become personal property who could be bought sold and even gambled away Transported convicts were paraded for sale like livestock Drawing on letters crying for help diaries and court and government archives Don Jordan and Michael Walsh demonstrate that the brutalities usually associated with black slavery alone were perpetrated on whites throughout British rule The trade ended with American independence but the British still tried to sell convicts in their former colonies which prompted one of the most audacious plots in Anglo American history This is a saga of exploration and cruelty spanning 170 years that has been submerged under the overwhelming memory of black slavery White Cargo brings the brutal uncomfortable story to the surface

One for the Murphys Lynda Mullaly Hunt, 2013-05-16 From the author of the New York Times bestselling novel Fish in a Tree, Carley uses humor and street smarts to keep her emotional walls high and thick. But the day she becomes a foster child and moves in with the Murphys, she's blindsided. This loving, bustling family shows Carley the stable family life she never thought existed, and she feels like an alien in their cookie-cutter perfect household. Despite her resistance, the Murphys eventually show her what it feels like to belong until her mother wants her back, and Carley has to decide where and how to live. She's not really a Murphy, but the gifts they've given her have opened up a new future. Hunt's writing is fearless, and One for the Murphys is a story that is at once compassionate, thought-provoking, and beautifully told. From the first page, I was drawn into Carley's story. She is a character not to be missed or forgotten. Jacqueline Woodson, National Book Award-winning author of Brown Girl Dreaming, Winner of the Tassy Walden Award for New Voice in Children's Literature

The Emerald Atlas Gift Bundle John Stephens, 2012-11-06 Two wondrous adventures in one special gift set. Called a new Narnia for the tween set by the New York Times and perfect for fans of the His Dark Materials series, The Emerald Atlas and The Fire Chronicle brim with humor and action as they chart Kate, Michael, and Emma's extraordinary adventures through an unforgettable enchanted world. These three siblings have been in one orphanage after another for the last ten years, passed along like lost baggage. Yet they are more remarkable than they could possibly imagine. Ripped from their parents as babies, they are being protected from a horrible evil of devastating power, an evil they know nothing about. Until now. Before long, Kate, Michael, and Emma are on a journey through time to dangerous and secret corners of the world, a journey of allies and enemies of magic and mayhem. And if an ancient prophecy is correct, their actions have the power to change history. It is up to them to set things right.

Whose History? Grant Rodwell, 2013. Somebody once quipped that any work of Australian historical fiction is a burning fuse travelling over decades through Australian culture and society. In some manner, every newly published Australian historical novel is connected to what it has preceded. Each work belongs to a proud history. Through multiple examples, Grant Rodwell encourages readers to see how a work of historical fiction has evolved. Thus, under various themes, WHOSE HISTORY examines the traditions in Australian historical fiction and ponders how Australian historical novels can engage teachers and student teachers. WHOSE HISTORY aims to illustrate how historical novels and their related genres may be used as an engaging teacher learning strategy for student teachers in pre-service teacher education courses. It does not argue all teaching of History curriculum in pre-service units should be based on the use of historical novels as a stimulus, nor does it argue for a particular percentage of the use of historical novels in such courses. It simply seeks to argue the case for this particular approach, leaving the extent of the use of historical novels used in History curriculum units to the professional expertise of the lecturers responsible for the units.

Spying Blind Amy B. Zegart,2009-02-17 In this pathbreaking book Amy Zegart provides the first scholarly examination of the intelligence failures that preceded September 11 Until now those failures have been attributed largely to individual mistakes But Zegart shows how and why the intelligence system itself left us vulnerable Zegart argues that after the Cold War ended the CIA and FBI failed to adapt to the rise of terrorism She makes the case by conducting painstaking analysis of more than three hundred intelligence reform recommendations and tracing the history of CIA and FBI counterterrorism efforts from 1991 to 2001 drawing extensively from declassified government documents and interviews with more than seventy high ranking government officials She finds that political leaders were well aware of the emerging terrorist danger and the urgent need for intelligence reform but failed to achieve the changes they sought The same forces that have stymied intelligence reform for decades are to blame resistance inside U S intelligence agencies the rational interests of politicians and career bureaucrats and core aspects of our democracy such as the fragmented structure of the federal government Ultimately failures of adaptation led to failures of performance Zegart reveals how longstanding organizational weaknesses left unaddressed during the 1990s prevented the CIA and FBI from capitalizing on twenty three opportunities to disrupt the September 11 plot Spying Blind is a sobering account of why two of America s most important intelligence agencies failed to adjust to new threats after the Cold War and why they are unlikely to adapt in the future

Word Order and Information Structure in Makhuwa-Enahara Jenneke Van der Wal, 2009 This thesis investigates the grammar of Makhuwa Enahara a Bantu language spoken in the north of Mozambique The information structure is an influential factor in this language determining the word order and the use of special conjugations known as conjoint and disjoint verb forms The thesis consists of two parts The first part is a grammatical description of the language covering the basic properties in the phonology prosody and morphology of the nominal and verbal domain as well as an overview of the conjugational system The chapter also examines some syntactic issues such as relativisation and non verbal predication The second part is concerned with the question how syntax and information structure interact in Makhuwa Enahara The elements in a sentence are positioned before or after the verb on the basis of their information structure Elements in the preverbal domain are interpreted as more accessible functioning as topics The disjoint verb and elements in the postverbal domain form the comment The element immediately following the conjoint verb form is interpreted not just as new information but as exclusive meaning that the proposition holds for that referent and not for some other referents These data can be accounted for if insights from syntax and information structure are combined Two such approaches are discussed a cartographic model and an interface model Two interface rules are proposed to account for the interpretation of word order and the conjoint and disjoint verb forms in Makhuwa Enahara
