

The Pearl by John Steinbeck: Unit Overview

Review the Essential Questions, Theme Topics (Heads), Thematic Questions, and the Literary Terms list on this page for use outside of the text. These questions, theme topics and literary terms are designed and revised during class time, so it is important for you to be familiar with them as possible. Use the comments to help guide your comments and read through the background information before you read the text.

Essential Questions

- How does poverty oppress individuals and affect or corrupt a societal ideal?
- What makes a theme universal?
- Why are symbols used to convey such their meaning?
- How can writing be used to effect change in society?

Theme Topics (Heads) from The Pearl

During your reading and annotation of The Pearl, look for and mark passages that make a point or statement about these possible theme topics:

- Money, Possessions, Greed: Look for paragraphs/passages dealing with the quest for money and the desire for things of the material world, as well as references to the steps which people will take to obtain those things. Also, look for paragraphs/passages that imply that money can fix happiness.
- Social Oppression: Look for paragraphs/passages dealing with the oppression of the Mexican Indians in the context of the doctor, the priest, the pearl buyers, and the museum. Watch for details which show how Kino and his people are treated differently: when advantage is, and disadvantage is, taken.
- Man as a part of nature: Look for paragraphs/passages which discuss relations between humans and other species through comparisons. NOTICE the frequent images Steinbeck uses and think of how these passages reflect on themselves (give them your future meaning) (HUMAN) ones.
- Kino's songs: Look for paragraphs/passages with references to the "music" Kino hears -- the three types of songs he hears and their significance. Pay particular attention to WATERS and UPON THE WIND CONCLUDES THE PEARL is particular song.
- Good vs. Evil: Look for paragraphs/passages that reflect images and ideas of darkness, light, good and brightness, divine, day-night, black-white, etc.
- Appearance vs. Reality: Look for paragraphs/passages that refer to things and being what they seem. Consider looking for paragraphs/passages about dreams, false images, dreams, ugliness, physical beauty, disease, etc.

Thematic Questions

- How does oppression manifest in both the community and individual?
- How can society's wrong be righted?
- How much material does an individual have over his/her "soul" or life?
- How can we determine if something as common as what we refer this system as life?
- Can money or desire change an individual?
- Is money necessary to be "wealthy" or life?
- What is the difference between good and evil? Are there any shades of gray?
