The Future of Newspapers Bob Franklin,2013-09-13 The future of newspapers is hotly contested Pessimistic pundits predict their imminent demise while others envisage a new era of participatory journalism online with yet others advocating increased investment in quality journalism rather than free gifts and DVDs as the necessary cure for the current parlous state of newspapers Globally newspapers confront highly variable prospects reflecting their location in different market sectors countries and journalism cultures But despite this diversity they face similar challenges in responding to the increased competition from expansive radio and 24 hour television news channels the emergence of free Metro papers the delivery of news services on billboards pod casts and mobile telephony the development of online editions as well as the burgeoning of blogs citizen journalists and User Generated Content Newspapers revenue streams are also under attack as advertising increasingly migrates online This authoritative collection of research based essays by distinguished scholars and journalists from around the globe brings together a judicious mix of academic expertise and professional journalistic experience to analyse and report on the future of newspapers This book was published as special issues of Journalism Practice and Journalism Studies iGen Jean M. Twenge,2017-08-22 As seen in Time USA TODAY The Atlantic The Wall Street Journal and on CBS This Morning BBC PBS CNN and NPR iGen is crucial reading to understand how the children teens and young adults born in the mid 1990s and later are vastly different from their Millennial predecessors and from any other generation With generational divides wider than ever parents educators and employers have an urgent need to understand today s rising generation of teens and young adults Born in the mid 1990s up to the mid 2000s iGen is the first generation to spend their entire adolescence in the age of the smartphone With social media and texting replacing other activities iGen spends less time with their friends in person perhaps contributing to their unprecedented levels of anxiety depression and loneliness But technology is not the only thing that makes iGen distinct from every generation before them they are also different in how they spend their time how they behave and in their attitudes toward religion sexuality and politics They socialize in completely new ways reject once sacred social taboos and want different things from their lives and careers More than previous generations they are obsessed with safety focused on tolerance and have no patience for inequality With the first members of iGen just graduating from college we all need to understand them friends and family need to look out for them businesses must figure out how to recruit them and sell to them colleges and universities must know how to educate and guide them And members of iGen also need to understand themselves as they communicate with their elders and explain their views to their older peers Because where iGen goes so goes our nation and the world Fool's Gold Mark Y.
