Free Trade and Cultural Diversity in International Law Jingxia Shi, 2013-04-30 This book attempts to reconcile the concept of free trade with a key non trade social value cultural diversity in an era of economic globalisation It first shows how we can look at culture in many different ways and explains why we should care about cultural diversity The book then examines the challenges that policymakers are faced with in formulating cultural measures in the new media environment and analyses UNESCO s theories and approaches to cultural diversity This is followed by a comprehensive examination of the treatment of culture in global and regional trade agreements including the framework of the GATT WTO system the WTO s judicial practice involving cultural products and the treatment of culture under the EC EU and NAFTA This identifies the challenges trade norms encounter in dealing with cultural products The author seeks to formulate a balanced view of the challenge of protecting and promoting cultural diversity while also recognising the important goal of trade liberalisation To this end Professor Shi proposes a dual method through which the norms found in WTO agreements and in UNESCO cultural instruments may be brought into alignment the first highlighting the compatibility of cultural policy measures with trade obligations on a domestic level the second suggesting potential linkages between the WTO rules and the UNESCO Convention from the perspectives of treaty interpretation

Community involvement in heritage Koen Van Balen, Aziliz Vandesande, 2015-01-27 The value of heritage for society is increasingly underscored This goes hand in hand with a growing interest for local communities involvement in heritage management plans Although this shift in discourse is acknowledged its practical implementation seems often too ambitious and not easy to apply Therefore the Raymond Lemaire International Centre for Conservation RLIICC University of Leuven considered community participation in valuing and managing heritage a relevant and timely topic for its annual international conference the Thematic Week This volume reports on the lectures and fruitful debates dedicated to this theme during the 2014 Thematic Week which took place January 22nd 24th The conference entailed an integral and holistic approach towards community participation Focusing traditionally on the conservation of the historic urban environment and immovable heritage the RLICC took the opportunity to involve both the intangible and movable heritage fields which have a more apparent relation with community participation in managing heritage The contributions by different international authors including theoretical reflections policy discourse analyses and practical case studies show that a balanced approach is needed They evidence that more research is required on the success and on failure factors associated with community participation in heritage preservation and management projects It appears that taking full advantage of public participation requires considering heritage as an economic social and intellectual resource for local communities These added benefits can enhance the value a community attributes to heritage and encourages them to maintain it This publication was developed in context of the UNESCO Chair on Preventive Conservation Monitoring and Maintenance of Monuments and Sites PRECOM3OS established at the RLICC in collaboration with Monumentenwacht Vlaanderen and the Faculty of Architecture of the University of Cuenca in Ecuador and financially supported by the Janssen Fund for Preventive Conservation

Warner, 2006 Depending on how broadly you define the subject diversity describes all the ways in which people are different from one another The term does not refer to minor differences like physical height or eye colour or design preferences or the type of cars people drive but similar things can define a group fairly quickly and lead to stereotyping This booklet aims to provide an overview of the whole subject of cultural diversity and awareness at a broad summary level or why we tend to focus on difference or what separates us more than we look at what is common or is similar between us Rapi
