to employers of the major employee benefits are also examined....The major finding of the study is that municipal pay levels consistently exceed those of other sectors for almost all occupations.

Strategic Compensation in Canada Sep 25 2023 Strategic Compensation Management, 7e is a market leading text in Top Hat's Human Resource Management series. It is published primarily for HR majors whose intention is to write the CCHRP Knowledge Exam and obtain their professional HRM designation. Long's illustrative, practical examples incorporated throughout the chapters, in concert with cases, exercises and review questions, all bridge the gap in the students' knowledge. There is expanded coverage and numerous examples that have been included to capture new research in the field of Compensation. This edition includes one new Appendix case, Patriot Holdings Inc., as well as the new ABC case providing students with the opportunity to design a compensation system, from formulation of compensation strategy to implementation of the new compensation system. Now included with the purchase of the Strategic Compensation Management 7e, is an online simulation and workbook at no additional cost to the student. The 7th edition simulation includes an updated Duplox Case as well as one brand new case. Get in touch with your Top Hat Account Executive for more information!

Compensation in Canada Dec 29 2023 From the Executive Summary: The purpose of this study is to compare the levels of compensation, and the changes over time in those levels, in the public and private sectors. It is believed that this study makes a unique contribution to the public discussion by focusing on compensation comparisons for specific occupations in the public and private sectors and by distinguishing among the different levels of government and the various quasi-government agencies in the public sector. This report presents an analysis of the level of compensation for similar jobs in the public and private sectors as well as an investigation of the changes in salaries for positions that are unique to a particular sector. In addition to comparing annual salaries over time and hourly rates of pay as of mid-1978, the non-wage benefits in a number of public sectors and the private sector are studied.

Provincial Differences Jun 22 2023 From the Executive Summary: This study is based on an analysis of trends in compensation for 14 specific occupations in each of nine major cities across Canada, and upon differences in living costs in each of these cities throughout the 1970s. The purpose is to determine whether changes have occurred in the relative rates of pay for these jobs among cities, whether living cost differences actually exist and, if so, their extent and the source of these differences. The study concludes with an assessment of the possible impact of compensation and cost-of-living differences on national and regional pay systems and on relocation policy.

Canadian Handbook of Flexible Benefits Nov 15 2022 The definitive guide to flexible benefit programs in Canada - completely revised and updated. Now in a new third edition, Canadian Handbook of Flexible Benefits offers everything organizations need to know about designing, implementing, communicating, and administering a successful flexible benefits program. The 2007 Handbook is equally relevant to employers introducing a new plan and to those looking for insight and direction on maintaining an existing program. This edition answers the question "What's new in flex?" and includes up-to-date information on: the expansion in the range of flexible programs in the last decade, from simplified to total compensation designs; incorporating the numerous innovations in health care cost management into a flexible program; legal aspects of flexible benefits, including the latest word from Canada Revenue Agency on converting taxable performance bonuses to pretax benefits; administration alternatives, including outsourcing, co-sourcing and multi-process outsourcing; Completely new material covering: retiree flexible benefit programs, maintaining and revitalizing an existing plan flex for executives, special considerations for specific provinces, case studies of companies that have successfully implemented flexible benefits, and flexible benefit developments in eight countries on five continents.

Pay Equity, a New Approach to a Fundamental Right Sep 01 2021

This is the report of a task force whose basic objective was to conduct a comprehensive review of the current equal pay provisions of the Canadian Human Rights Act, section 11, as well as the Equal Wages Guidelines of 1986. Work of the task force included consultations, public hearings, roundtables, private meetings, research, and a symposium to provide information about the wide range of issues relevant to a review of pay equity legislation. The first four chapters review wage inequalities in Canada & within designated groups in the labour market, the Canadian legislative response to wage inequality, the current pay equity model and its limitations, and proactive models & legislation in the public sectors of various provinces. Chapter 5 outlines a model that the task force recommends to replace the current legislation. Subsequent chapters address issues which arise in connection with this proposed model, including the scope of application, the elements of a pay equity plan, employee participation, predominance of certain groups in job classes, evaluating gender-predominant job classes, estimating & correcting wage gaps, allowable exemptions, maintenance of pay equity, enforcement, timelines & transition to new legislation, pay equity and collective bargaining, and the role of oversight agencies. Recommendations made throughout the report are also listed at the end. Appendices include excerpts from relevant legislation.

Compensation for Wrongful Convictions in Canada Jun 10 2022 The plight of the wrongly convicted is gaining prominence with the growing awareness of the prodigious harms to innocent persons at the hands of the criminal justice system. Most of the attention, both scholarly and legislatively, has been focused on the causes of wrongful convictions and the need to free the innocent. What needs to now be addressed more comprehensively is the issue of how to provide redress to those persons whose lives have been inexorably damaged and how to best compensate them in their efforts to rebuild a life. The available remedies in Canada to pursue compensation include civil litigation for malicious prosecution, negligent investigation, a Charter breach and the highly politicized exercise of discretion by a government to make a payment without acknowledging liability. Except for the very few, none of these remedies are very helpful. Liberal democracies like Canada are honour bound if not constitutionally mandated to provide for innocence compensation far beyond the onerous and cost prohibitive pursuit of litigation against the State and the current highly secretive and inadequate executive remedy requiring an elusive exercise of mercy. About the Author: Dr. Myles Frederick McLellan (LL.B (J.D); LL.M (Osgoode); Ph.D. (Anglia Ruskin - Law) is a Professor of Law and Justice at Algoma University in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Canada. The focus of his research, writing and teaching is criminal justice. He is the Director and Founder of the Innocence Compensation Project and is the Editor-in-Chief of the Wrongful Conviction

Law Review. He is on the Policy Review Committee of the Canadian Criminal Justice Association. He has also been a Commissioner of Police and a Federal Crown Counsel.
