generation in residential and industrial sectors and for the production of fertilizers in agriculture as it is convenient abundant and cheap However such a widespread use of fossil fuels by a constantly growing world population from 2.3 billion in 1939 to 6.5 billion in 2006 gives rise to the two problems of oil supply and environmental degradation The problem related to oil supply is caused by the fact that fossil fuels are not newable primary energy sources This means that since the first barrel of petroleum has been pumped out from the ground we have been exhausting a heritage given by nature

Facing the Heat Barrier T.A. Heppenheimer, 2018-09-12 This volume from The NASA History Series presents an overview of the science of hypersonics the study of flight at speeds at which the physics of flows is dominated by aerodynamic heating The survey begins during the years immediately following World War II with the first steps in hypersonic research the development of missile nose cones and the X-15 the earliest concepts of hypersonic propulsion and the origin of the scramjet engine Next it addresses the reentry problem which came to the forefront during the mid 1950s showing how work in this area supported the manned space program and contributed to the development of the orbital shuttle Subsequent chapters explore the fading of scramjet studies and the rise of the National Aerospace Plane NASP program of 1985-95 which sought to lay groundwork for single stage vehicles The program's ultimate shortcomings in terms of aerodynamics propulsion and materials are discussed and the book concludes with a look at hypersonics in the post NASP era including the development of the X-33 and X-34 launch vehicles further uses for scramjets and advances in fluid mechanics Clearly ongoing research in hypersonics has yet to reach its full potential and readers with an interest in aeronautics and astronautics will find this book a fascinating exploration of the field's history and future

Go Like Hell Albert J. Baime, 2009 By the early 1960s the Ford Motor Company built to bring automobile transportation to the masses was falling behind Young Henry Ford II who had taken the reins of his grandfather's company with little business experience to speak of knew he had to do something to shake things up Baby boomers were taking to the road in droves looking for speed not safety style not comfort Meanwhile Enzo Ferrari whose cars epitomized style lorded it over the European racing scene He crafted beautiful sports cars science fiction on wheels but was also called the Assassin because so many drivers perished while racing them Go Like Hell tells the remarkable story of how Henry Ford II with the help of a young visionary named Lee Iacocca and a former racing champion turned engineer Carroll Shelby concocted a scheme to reinvent the Ford company They would enter the high stakes world of European car racing where an adventurous few threw safety and sanity to the wind They would design build and race a car that could beat Ferrari at his own game at the most prestigious and brutal race in the world something no American car had ever done Go Like Hell transports readers to a risk filled glorious time in this brilliant portrait of a rivalry between two industrialists the cars they built and the pilots who would drive them to victory or doom
