Stahel, 2010-02-24 This updated and revised edition outlines strategies and models for how to use technology and knowledge to improve performance create jobs and increase income It shows what skills will be required to produce sell and manage performance over time and how manual jobs can contribute to reduce the consumption of non renewable resources The Unforgiving Minute Craig M. Mullaney, 2009-02-19 The Unforgiving Minute is one of the most compelling memoirs yet to emerge from America's 9/11 era Craig Mullaney has given us an unusually honest funny accessible and vivid account of a soldier's coming of age This is more than a soldier's story it is a work of literature Steve Coll author of the Pulitzer Prize winning Ghost Wars and The Bin Ladens One of the most thoughtful and honest accounts ever written by a young Army officer confronting all the tests of life Bob Woodward In this surprise bestseller West Point grad Rhodes scholar Airborne Ranger and U S Army Captain Craig Mullaney recounts his unparalleled education and the hard lessons that only war can teach While stationed in Afghanistan a deadly firefight with al Qaeda leads to the loss of one of his soldiers Years later after that excruciating experience he returns to the United States to teach future officers at the Naval Academy Written with unflinching honesty this is an unforgettable portrait of a young soldier grappling with the weight of war while coming to terms with what it means to be a man Turn-taking in human communicative interaction Judith Holler, Robin H. Kendrick, Marisa Casillas, 2016-05-09 The core use of language is in face to face conversation This is characterized by rapid turn taking This turn taking poses a number central puzzles for the psychology of language Consider for example that in large corpora the gap between turns is on the order of 100 to 300 ms but the latencies involved in language production require minimally between 600 ms for a single word or 1500 ms for as simple sentence This implies that participants in conversation are predicting the ends of the incoming turn and preparing in advance But how is this done What aspects of this prediction are done when What happens when the prediction is wrong What stops participants coming in too early If the system is running on prediction why is there consistently a mode of 100 to 300 ms in response time The timing puzzle raises further puzzles it seems that comprehension must run parallel with the preparation for production but it has been presumed that there are strict cognitive limitations on more than one central process running at a time How is this bottleneck overcome Far from being easy as some psychologists have suggested conversation may be one of the most demanding cognitive tasks in our everyday lives Further questions naturally arise how do children learn to master this demanding task and what is the developmental trajectory in this domain Research shows that aspects of turn taking such as its timing are remarkably stable across languages and cultures but the word order of languages varies enormously How then does prediction of the incoming turn work when the verb often the informational nugget in a clause is at the end Conversely how can production work fast enough in languages that have the verb at the beginning thereby requiring early planning of the whole clause What happens when one changes modality as in sign languages with the loss of channel constraints is turn taking much freer And what about face to face communication amongst hearing individuals do gestures gaze and other body behaviors facilitate turn taking One can also ask the phylogenetic question how did such a system evolve There seem to be parallels analogies in duetting bird species and in a variety of monkey species but there is little evidence of anything like this among the great apes All this constitutes a neglected set of problems at the heart of the psychology of language and of the language sciences This Research Topic contributes to advancing our understanding of these problems by summarizing recent work from psycholinguists developmental psychologists students of dialog and conversation analysis linguists phoneticians and comparative ethologists
