Indoor Thermal Comfort Perception

Kristian Fabbri, 2015-06-30 Providing a methodology for evaluating indoor thermal comfort with a focus on children this book presents an in depth examination of children s perceptions of comfort Divided into two sections it first presents a history of thermal comfort the human body and environmental parameters common thermal comfort indexes and guidelines for creating questionnaires to assess children s perceptions of indoor thermal comfort It then describes their understanding of the concepts of comfort and energy and the factors that influence that perception In this context it takes into account the psychological and pedagogical aspects of thermal comfort judgment as well as architectural and environmental characteristics and equips readers with the knowledge needed to effectively investigate children s perspectives on environmental ergonomics The research field of indoor thermal comfort adopts on the one hand physical parameter measurements and comfort indexes e g Predicted Mean Vote PMV or adaptive comfort and on the other an ergonomic assessment in the form of questionnaires However the latter can offer only limited insights into the issue of comfort as children often use different terms than adults to convey their experience of thermal comfort The books aims to address this lack of understanding with regard to children s perceptions of indoor thermal comfort The book is intended for HVAC engineers and researchers architects and researchers interested in thermal comfort and the built environment It also provides a useful resource for environmental psychologists medical and cognitive researchers

Withdrawal from Iraq Anthony H. Cordesman,Adam Mausner,2009 Iraq and the US face a critical transition during the period through 2011 and beyond There is still a war to finish but this is only part of the challenge both countries face No one can be certain whether Iraq can achieve a stable level of political accommodation to deal with its internal problems Iran seeks to expand it s influence and Turkey will not tolerate a sanctuary for hostile Kurdish movements like the PKK Arab support for Iraq remains weak and Iraq s Arab neighbors fear both Shi ite dominance and what that could mean in terms of Iran s role in Syria and Lebanon as well as Iraq Even if it moves forward towards stability and political accommodation and largely ends the insurgency it will be extremely difficult for Iraq to develop all of the security capabilities it needs for even the counterinsurgency mission before the full US withdrawal scheduled to take place by the end of 2011 This could force the US to hand over responsibility to the Iraqi Security Forces before these forces are fully able to do the job It could also force the US to withdraw prematurely the US trainers and partner units that the IRS needs to secure the country and defend it from any threat from it s neighbors Dealing with these issues will be a critical priority for the US for at least half a decade to come Gender Relations in an Indonesian Society Nurul Ilmi Idrus,2016-04-08 Gender Relations in an Indonesian Society offers a comprehensive ethnography of Bugis marriage through an exploration of gender identity and sexuality in this bilateral highly competitive hierarchical society Nurul Ilmi Idrus considers the fundamental concept of siriq honour shame in relation to gender socialization courtship sex within marriage the regulation of sexuality between genders the importance of kinship and status in marriage and the dynamics of marriage divorce and reconciliation This analysis considers the practical combination of Islamic tenets with local adat custom customary law and the effect of contemporary Indonesia s national ideology on cultural practices specific to Bugis society
