Ladies' Book of Etiquette, and Manual of Politéness Florence Hartley,1860 Do unto others as you would others should do to you You can never be rude if you bear the rule always in mind for what lady likes to be treated rudely True Christian politeness will always be the result of an unselfish regard for the feelings of others and though you may err in the ceremonious points of etiquette you will never be im polite Politeness founded upon such a rule becomes the expression in graceful manner of social virtues The spirit of politeness consists in a certain attention to forms and ceremonies which are meant both to please others and ourselves and to make others pleased with us a still clearer definition may be given by saying that politeness is goodness of heart put into daily practice the re can be no true politeness without kindness purity singleness of heart and sensibility Many believe that politeness is but a mask worn in the world to conceal bad passions and impulses and to make a show of possessing virtues not really existing in the heart thus that politeness is merely hypocrisy and dissimulation Do not believe this be certain that those who profess such a doctrine are practising themselves the deceit they condemn so much

Forced to Care Evelyn Nakano Glenn,2012-03-05 The United States faces a growing crisis in care The number of people needing care is growing while the ranks of traditional caregivers have shrunk The status of care workers is a critical concern Evelyn Nakano Glenn offers an innovative interpretation of care labor in the United States by tracing the roots of inequity along two interconnected strands unpaid caring within the family and slavery indenture and other forms of coerced labor By bringing both into the same analytic framework she provides a convincing explanation of the devaluation of care work and the exclusion of both unpaid and paid care workers from critical rights such as minimum wage retirement benefits and workers compensation Glenn reveals how assumptions about gender family home civilization and citizenship have shaped the development of care labor and been incorporated into law and social policies She exposes the underlying systems of control that have resulted in women especially immigrants and women of color performing a disproportionate share of caring labor Finally she examines strategies for improving the situation of unpaid family caregivers and paid home healthcare workers This important and timely book illuminates the source of contradictions between American beliefs about the value and importance of caring in a good society and the exploitation and devalued status of those who actually do the caring

The Museum of Augustus Peter Heslin,2015-05-01 In the Odes Horace writes of his own work I have built a monument more enduring than bronze a striking metaphor that hints at how the poetry and built environment of ancient Rome are inextricably linked This fascinating work of original scholarship makes the precise and detailed argument that painted illustrations of the Trojan War both public and private were a collective visual resource for selected works of Virgil Horace and Propertius Carefully researched and skillfully reasoned the author's claims are bold and innovative offering a strong interpretation of the relationship between Roman visual culture and literature that will deepen modern readings of Augustan poets The Museum of Augustus first provides a comprehensive reconstruction of paintings from the remaining fragments of the cycle of Trojan frescoes that once decorated the Temple of Apollo in Pompeii It then finds the echoes of these paintings in the Augustan dated Portico of Philippus now destroyed which was itself a renovation of Rome's de facto temple of the Muses in other words a museum both in displaying art and offering a meeting place for poets It next examines the responses of the Augustan poets to the decorative program of this monument that was intimately connected with their own literary aspirations The book concludes by looking at the way Horace in the Odes and Virgil in the Georgics both conceptualized their poetic projects as temples to rival the museum of Augustus
