Hydroelectric generators convert the kinetic energy of water flowing downhill into electricity.

Magnetism and electricity are connected in a way that is very useful to people. Magnetic fields can be used to generate electric _____ and electric currents can be used to generate _____ fields. This connection between magnets and electricity is called _____. How does this work? As a _____ of wire spins in a magnetic _____, a current flows through it.

A device that uses a coil of spinning wires in a magnetic field to make electricity is called a _____. A _____ power plant, for example, uses the energy of flowing water to generate electricity. As water flows from a high place to a low place, it pushes on _____ blades causing them to spin. Coils of wire are attached to the spinning turbine and placed next to magnets. As the coil _____ in the magnetic field, electric current flows through the wires. In short, the _____ energy of water is transformed into electrical energy.

This process can be reversed to produce an electric _____. An electric current through a coil of wires in a magnetic field will cause the coil to start spinning. This coil is attached to an axle, which can be used to move something else such as a wheel or a blade. _____ and toy cars are examples of devices that use an electric motor to generate motion.
