Levenson,2024 Criminal law is one of the most important classes you will take in law school For some students it is important because they want to become prosecutors defense lawyers or judges However a course in criminal law is also important for those students who see their futures in civil practice Especially in today s society it is not unusual for clients from all walks of life to have problems that implicate the criminal justice system For example a simple business transaction may trigger questions regarding fraud or a family law case can raise issues regarding criminal abuse In the final analysis criminal law is important because it teaches you how to read statutes interpret them in light of hundreds of years of common law and argue their application in light of today s policy concerns GPs and Purchasing in the NHS Bernard Dowling,2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 The relative performance of health authorities and general practitioners as commissioners of health care services is a crucial question in the current health care policy debate but hitherto a poorly researched area This work addresses that topic and represents a systematic direct comparison of GPs and health authorities as purchasers of health care services In doing this it centres upon two of the chief controversies about the NHS internal market the equality of hospital waiting times for fund holding patients and the fairness of the budgets received by fund holding practices for commissioning effective surgery In discussing the policy implications of the research the book then addresses what lessons should be learned from the internal market about equity and efficiency in the service now that the present Labour Government is reforming the NHS with the introduction of Primary Care Groups and Primary Care Trusts
