Peter Steele had already spent several years trekking and working in the Himalayas when he reluctantly took the position of medical officer on the 1971 International Everest Expedition. He expected it to be a hard climb; what he didn't expect were the series of disasters that included a near-epidemic, a walk-out, and the death of a team member. Struggling against bad weather, hostile news reports, and violent infighting, the members still attempted to climb Everest via the treacherous, never-before-attempted southwest face. As much an exposé of Steele's colorful climbing companions -- foreign and Sherpa -- as a chronology of the perilous day-to-day challenges of attempting a difficult new route on the world's highest mountain, Doctor on Everest is a white-knuckle ride into an extreme environment and a compelling look at the limits of human endurance. According to the ancient Kama Sutra, "Love is where physical, emotional, and spiritual experiences meet for the purpose of strengthening relationships." Isn't this what modern marketing is all about? Love is, in fact, the very peak of emotional marketing. Putting this philosophy into practice is not only a revolutionary concept, but it's also a guaranteed platform of success. In this groundbreaking marketing guide, veteran marketing guru Jacob Levy borrows analogies from philosophies and practices of romantic love, as described in the Kama Sutra, the oldest and best source on the theory and practice of love, written some 1500 years ago, to help you delve into the world of emotional marketing. In crisp, concise language, Levy discusses the following topics: - Using the marriage vow in marketing - Wooing your customers - Maintaining your customers' loyalty - Seducing your competitors' wives - And much more Levy also shows you how to include the term "Reciprocal Love" in the strategies and mission statements of your organization, and deftly reveals how marketing this message to females is essential for success. Understanding emotional-based marketing is imperative
