Banker To The Poor Muhammad Yunus, 2007-03-31 The inspirational story of how Nobel Prize winner Muhammad Yunus invented microcredit founded the Grameen Bank and transformed the fortunes of millions of poor people around the world Muhammad Yunus was a professor of economics in Bangladesh who realized that the most impoverished members of his community were systematically neglected by the banking system no one would loan them any money Yunus conceived of a new form of banking microcredit that would offer very small loans to the poorest people without collateral and teach them how to manage and use their loans to create successful small businesses He founded Grameen Bank based on the belief that credit is a basic human right not the privilege of a fortunate few and it now provides 24 billion of micro loans to more than nine million families Ninety seven percent of its clients are women and repayment rates are over 90 percent Outside of Bangladesh micro lending programs inspired by Grameen have blossomed and serve hundreds of millions of people around the world The definitive history of micro credit direct from the man that conceived of it Banker to the Poor is the moving story of someone who dreamed of changing the world and did

Student Learning in South Asia: Challenges,

Opportunities, and Policy Priorities Halil Dundar, Tara Beteille, Michelle Riboud, 2014-07-07 For the past decade most South Asian countries have directed their efforts towards achieving universal access to elementary education While these investments have led to more children being retained in school they have not translated into better learning outcomes This report comprehensively analyzes the performance of South Asian educational systems in terms of student learning It attempts to answer three questions How well do education systems in South Asia perform What determines student learning outcomes What policy options are effective in improving learning outcomes especially given increasing demand and competition for public resources Because learning outcomes and skill acquisition in the region are low in both absolute and relative terms schooling does not translate as it should into better life chances including escape from poverty for many more Nor does schooling contribute to higher productivity and economic growth so that countries in the region find it difficult to accelerate economic and social development Governments in the region now fully realize that they need to direct their attention toward improving quality so that students can aspire to fuller lives as both individuals and labor market participants Merely spending time in school is not enough students need to register a significant gain in both noncognitive and cognitive skills if countries in the region are to reap full returns on their investments and generate gains in employment job creation and productivity To examine what policies hold promise for improving student learning the report reviews evidence from large scale national learning assessments and findings from impact evaluations being conducted in the region It identifies the following strategic priorities for improving learning outcomes in South Asia 1 Make learning outcomes the central goal of education policy 2 Invest in early childhood nutrition 3 Improve teacher effectiveness and accountability 4

Provide additional support to disadvantaged children in early grades 5 Use financing effectively 6 Leverage the contribution of the non state sector and 7 Build learning assessment systems Each of these policy options will need to be integrated within a larger agenda of inclusive economic growth and governance reform to be truly effective

Voices to Choices Jennifer L. Solotaroff, Aphichoke Kotikula, Tara Lonnberg, Snigdha Ali, Ferdous Jahan, 2019-06-06 Women have experienced significant changes in various spheres of their lives during the last decades as Bangladesh made economic progress Yet women s economic engagement and empowerment are subdued as they cannot make sufficient choices for themselves This book provides a comprehensive analysis of the economic developments in gender equality in Bangladesh Through examining women s participation in the labour force ownership and control of household assets use and control of financial assets and opportunities for entrepreneurship the authors have made concrete recommendations to overcome challenges that lie ahead for women s economic empowerment This book is an important contribution to the knowledge on interventions required by the policy makers and broader stakeholders towards narrowing gender gaps Fahmida Khatun PhD Executive Director Centre for Policy Dialogue CPD Bangladesh The women s story is central to Bangladesh s economic and social transformation There is an urgent need to deepen researched understanding of the multidimensional pathways of women s economic empowerment and extent of real progress made Voices to Choices is an important contribution to this story Surely the journey of women s economic empowerment remains a long and challenging one Realizing the full benefits of new opportunities is often hampered by both new and entrenched insecurities The task is as much one of empowering women s agency as of dismantling barriers The responsibility is as much women s as society s Hossain Zillur Rahman PhD Executive Chairman Power and Participation Research Centre PPRC This book provides critical insights and is timely as it outlines how girls and women in Bangladesh have gained more opportunities in labor force participation control over household and financial assets as well as greater prospects for entrepreneurship The findings will greatly contribute to future policy and planning for government and key stakeholders working to advance women s economic empowerment in the country Sabina Faiz Rashid PhD Dean and Professor BRAC James P Grant School of Public Health BRAC University

Labor, Global Supply Chains, and the Garment Industry in South Asia Sanchita Saxena, 2019-06-27 This book argues that larger flaws in the global supply chain must first be addressed to change the way business is conducted to prevent factory owners from taking deadly risks to meet clients demands in the garment industry in Bangladesh Using the 2013 Rana Plaza disaster as a departure point and to prevent such tragedies from occurring in the future this book presents an interdisciplinary analysis to address the disaster which resulted in a radical change in the functioning of the garment industry The chapters present innovative ways of thinking about solutions that go beyond third party monitoring They open up possibilities for a renewed engagement of international brands and buyers within the garment sector a focus on direct worker empowerment using technology the role of community based movements developing a model of change through enforceable contracts combined with workers movements and a more productive and influential role for both factory owners and the government This book makes key interventions and rethinks the approaches that have been taken until now and proposes suggestions for the way forward It engages with international brands the private sector and civil society to strategize about the future of the industry and for those who depend on it for their livelihood A much needed review and evaluation of the many initiatives that have been set up in Bangladesh in the wake of Rana Plaza this book is a valuable addition to academics in the fields of development studies gender and women s studies human rights poverty and practice political science economics sociology anthropology and South Asian studies

Exports to Jobs Erhan Artuc, Gladys Lopez-Acevedo, Raymond Robertson, Daniel Samaan, 2019-02-25 South Asia has grown rapidly with significant reductions in poverty but it has not been able to match the fast growing working age population leading to lingering concerns about jobless growth and poor job quality Could export growth in South Asia result in better labor market outcomes The answer is yes according to our study which rigorously estimates using a new methodology the potential impact from higher South Asian exports per worker on wages and employment over a 10 year period Our study shows the positive side of trade It finds that increasing exports per worker would result in higher wages mainly for better off groups like more educated workers males and more experienced workers although less skilled workers would see the largest reduction in informality How can the benefits be spread more widely Our study suggests that scaling up exports in labor intensive industries could significantly lower informality for groups like rural and less educated workers in the region Also increasing skills and participation of women and young workers in the labor force could make an even bigger dent in informal employment The region could achieve these gains by i boosting and connecting exports to people e g removing trade barriers and investment in infrastructure ii eliminating distortions in production e g by more efficient allocation of inputs and iii protecting workers e g by investing in education and skills

Globalism Manfred B. Steger, 2002 Globalism The New Market Ideology rejects the notion that we find ourselves at the end of ideology and that democracy has won Instead Steger argues that the opening decade of the 21st century will constitute a teeming battlefield of clashing ideologies The chief protagonist is the dominant neoliberal market ideology Steger calls globalism After identifying and evaluating the five central claims of globalism including assertions that globalization is inevitable nobody is in charge of globalization and globalization benefits everyone Steger offers an overview of the counterclaims made by anti globalist forces Visit our website for sample chapters

Partnership in Higher Education Emnet Tadesse Woldegiorgis, Christine Scherer, 2019-09-16 Trends in institutional partnership in higher education have shown tremendous growth in the past three decades These trends are manifested through the growing initiatives of joint programs that promote collaborative research academic mobility joint curriculum development and course delivery joint bidding for development projects and benchmarking Partnerships in higher education have been used not only as an instrument for institutional development through a wide range of strategic alliances but also as an essential way of introducing new voices to the operations of the universities by initiating new paradigms that bring new perspectives and bear competitive advantage on the partners. As the trend of partnership in higher education grew, scholars in higher education studies have also engaged in conceptualizing higher education partnership from academic perspectives, analyzing trends and developing models of higher education collaborations. Partnership in Higher Education Trends between African and European Institutions is a pioneer in bringing together a comprehensive perspective on matters of higher education partnership among African and European institutions. It discusses the ongoing debates on higher education partnership and internationalization strategies by providing empirical insights from various case studies. Handbook of Education Systems in South Asia Padma M. Sarangapani, Rekha Pappu, 2021-08-29. This handbook is an important reference work in understanding education systems in the South Asia region, their development trajectory, challenges, and potential. The handbook includes the SAARC (South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation) countries for discussion: Afghanistan, Pakistan, India, Nepal, Bhutan, Bangladesh, and Sri Lanka, while also considering countries such as Myanmar and the Maldives that have considerable shared history in the region. Such a comparative perspective is largely absent within the literature given the present paucity of intra-regional interaction. South Asian education systems are viewed primarily through a development lens in terms of inequalities, challenges, and responses. However, the development of modern institutions of education and the challenges that it faces requires cultural and historical understanding of indigenous traditions, as well as indigenous modern thinkers and education movements. Therefore, this encompassing reference work covers indigenous education traditions, formal education systems including school and preschool education, higher and professional education, education financing systems and structures, teacher education systems, addressing huge linguistic and other diversities and marginalization within the formal education system, and pedagogy and curricula. All the countries in this region have their own unique geographical, cultural, economic, and political character and histories of interest and significance and have responded to common issues such as overcoming the colonial legacy, language diversity, or girls' education, or minority rights in education in uniquely different ways. The sections therefore include country-specific perspectives as far as possible to highlight these issues. Internationally renowned specialists of South Asian education systems have contributed to this important reference work, making it an invaluable resource for researchers and students of education interested in South Asia.

Regional Integration and Economic Development in South Asia Sultan Hafeez Rahman, Sridhar Khatri, Hans-Peter Brunner, 2012-04-01. South Asian leaders have made it a priority to tackle key regional issues such as poverty, environment degradation, trade and investment barriers, and food insecurity among others. Global Interactions 1 Grant Kleeman, 2008. Global Interactions 1 Preliminary Course Second Edition has been written by a group of experienced geography educators for the Preliminary Geography course in New South Wales. The text aims to help students develop their knowledge, understanding, skills, attitudes, and values in their global competitiveness While some of this is due to their economic activity politics are also a contributing factor Technological advances particularly concerning the internet and social media have also contributed as have many other factors We expect information and communication technology led by the development of the internet to make the transformation of knowledge easier and more efficient thus contributing to faster economic growth worldwide Sound macroeconomic policy and political conditions facilitate this process Many Asian countries have learned from the experience of the Asian Crisis of 1987 when the Thai baht lost its value due to a shortage of reserves by the Central bank of Thailand and capital outflow spread throughout the region Asian countries now know that to avoid such a run on foreign currencies they must hold enough reserves to support their own currency Sound fiscal and monetary policies as well as an exchange rate policy combined with an efficient banking system are required to enhance the reserve policy Another requirement for the effectiveness of macroeconomic policies is desirable political conditions to enhance international confidence in these countries Strong political stability requires sound rules laws and democratic institutions that must be transparent Granting excessive power to any one ruler has proved to lead to corruption which is an impediment to growth This book addresses the issues above by providing theoretical and empirical evidence using data from some countries in Asia
