Combating Inequality Alexander Gallas, Hansjörg Herr, Frank Hoffer, Christoph Scherrer, 2015-12-22 Economic inequality has recently gained considerable academic attention. However, two important aspects of inequality have not been discussed systematically: its multidimensional nature and the question of what can be done to reverse it. This book offers insights from scholars representing the Global Labour University, which operates in Brazil, Germany, India, South Africa, and the US. They analyse the various drivers of inequality, assess policy responses, and discuss counterstrategies. The main findings of this book are that rising levels of inequality cannot be addressed only with the standard policies, responses, namely education, redistribution, and green growth. In addition, the way markets currently function needs to be corrected. The chapters in this volume focus on specific fields of contemporary capitalism where important drivers of inequality are located, for example, the labour market, the financial system, the tax system, multi-national corporations, and gender relations. Other chapters discuss in detail where political opportunities for change lie. They critically assess existing countermeasures, the idea of a green economy, and its implications for inequality, and existing campaigns by trade unions and new social movements against inequality. In line with the global nature of the problem, this book contains case studies on countries both from the north and south with considerable economic and political weight. This book provides academics, political practitioners, and civil society activists with a range of ideas on how to drive back inequality. It will be of interest to those who study political economy, development economy, and labour economics.

The Evolution of Economic Development in Africa Francis K. Mbroh, 2021-07-11 Within the theoretical framework of the trade-growth and structural transformation growth nexuses, the book examines the evolution of African goods and service trade in terms of value and share of global commerce relative to other regions during the period 1948-2017. It also identifies and discusses discernible changes in the composition and structure of African exports and imports between 1995 and 2015 and their implications for economic development in Africa. The study attributes Africa's laggard trade performance during the period primarily to sub-optimal macroeconomic policies and lack of bold export development policies and initiatives among other factors. It also offers an incisive discussion of several inhibitions to the structural transformation of African exports and imports, including lack of finance, globalization, tariff, and non-tariff measures in global markets. The discussion of the evolution of African trade during the period 1948-2017 is based on statistics and publications of Governance in Transition Ján Buček, Andrew Ryder, 2015-04-15 This book looks at experience in government restructuring and devolution from a variety of national and international perspectives both within the European Union and elsewhere focusing on lessons learned and ways forward Since the 1980s there has been a global trend to give more power to local governments Even in Korea and the United Kingdom the most centralised countries in the OECD local government powers have increased with substantial economic benefits Within the European Union the principle of subsidiarity has enshrined the idea of devolution New member states particularly in central and eastern Europe have significantly created new and self sufficient local and regional governments However this process has been complicated Devolution is not a panacea in its own right and need not lead to economic growth While it can encourage savings through collaboration it can also lead to confused lines of authority and can complicate policy formation and implantation Devolution can strain local budgets forcing local governments to rely on their own sources of finance rather than central government transfers Suburbanisation rural depopulation the growth of some regions and the decline of others have raised new problems particularly related to inter governmental cooperation among local governments and different levels of government In many cases an increased number of governments has increased administrative costs

The Economics of Iraq Amer K. Hirmis, 2018-03-12 Meticulously researched and written by Dr Amer K Hirmis the book takes readers 6000 years back to early Mesopotamian polity culture and religious codes which shaped the economy and continue to shape much of the body of Iraq's polity economy and society today Economic inefficiency inequality and lack of sufficient employment are common threads that run throughout Mesopotamian Iraqi economic history The persistence of poverty high unemployment conscious discrimination against women and a polity dictating blind allegiance and obedience from the subjects to the ruler denied the Iraqis achieving economic development the ultimate aim of which is the sustained improvement of the well being of the people Even when economic growth was attained it was desperately non inclusive With a novel approach to economic development this book examines Iraq's economy over the past 100 years It establishes the historical roots in the consumption patterns nature of the producers the economic structure trade monetary and fiscal policy and resource allocation In all these areas the echoes from the ancient past are striking The principles of Sumerian taxes are still applied in present day Iraq The book proposes a set of conditions which will need to be created for Iraq to achieve economic development and functional democracy in the distant future

European Yearbook of International Economic Law 2015 Christoph Herrmann, Markus Krajewski, Jörg Philipp Terhechte, 2015-07-04 This sixth volume 2015 of the European Yearbook of International Economic Law puts a particular emphasis on non tariff barriers NTBs to trade and the world trade order With the steady reduction of tariff rates since the GATT 47 came into force focus in recent years has been on the vast and complex landscape of non tariff barriers to trade States as well as scholars seemingly struggle with the multitude of measures pooled under this expression as there is no single acknowledged definition of the term and its relation to the term non tariff measures remains equally blurred Particularly in practice and on a multilateral level there appears to be some awkwardness when it comes to coping with NTBs since multilateral trade rules seem to be in conflict with national regulatory autonomy in the pursuit of policy objectives In part one this volume sheds light on the problems of non tariff barriers to trade that arise in various fields Part two focuses on regional integration with an emphasis on relations between East Asia and the European Union In this regard the authors outline the trade and investment relations between the European Union and East Asia including Japan Korea and Singapore Part three offers an overview of recent institutional developments in WIPO ICSID WTO and WTO jurisprudence Part four includes book reviews of recent works in the field of international economic law and part five introduces a new section on publications in the field of international economic law that were released in 2013 and 2014
