

BURNING DOWN THE HOUSE

THE END OF JUVENILE PRISON

A young boy with dark hair, wearing a black and white horizontally striped t-shirt, stands with his back to the camera in a prison cell. He has his hands clasped behind his back. The cell is made of grey concrete walls and has a white shelf above him. A white mattress is on the floor to the right. The lighting is dim and the overall tone is somber.

Burning Down The House The End Of Juvenile Prison

Burning Down the House Nell Bernstein, 2014-06-03 When teenagers scuffle during a basketball game they are typically benched But when Will got into it on the court he and his rival were sprayed in the face at close range by a chemical similar to Mace denied a shower for twenty four hours and then locked in solitary confinement for a month One in three American children will be arrested by the time they are twenty three and many will spend time locked inside horrific detention centers that defy everything we know about how to rehabilitate young offenders In a clear eyed indictment of the juvenile justice system run amok award winning journalist Nell Bernstein shows that there is no right way to lock up a child The very act of isolation denies delinquent children the thing that is most essential to their growth and rehabilitation positive relationships with caring adults Bernstein introduces us to youth across the nation who have suffered violence and psychological torture at the hands of the state She presents these youths all as fully realized people not victims As they describe in their own voices their fight to maintain their humanity and protect their individuality in environments that would deny both these young people offer a hopeful alternative to the doomed effort to reform a system that should only be dismantled Burning Down the House is a clarion call to shut down our nation s brutal and counterproductive juvenile prisons and bring our children home

All Alone in the World Nell Bernstein, 2010-10-08 An award winning journalists heart wrenching The San Antonio Observer look at children with parents in prison a Newsweek book of the week and an East Bay Express bestseller In this moving condemnation of the U S penal system and its effect on families Parents Press award winning journalist Nell Bernstein takes an intimate look at parents and children over two million of them torn apart by our current incarceration policy Described as meticulously reported and sensitively written by Salon the book is brimming with compelling case studies and recommendations for change Orlando Sentinel Our Weekly Los Angeles calls it a must read for lawmakers as well as for lawbreakers

No Matter How Loud I Shout Edward Humes, 2015-03-17 Now updated with a new introduction and afterword this award winning examination of the nation s largest juvenile criminal justice system in Los Angeles by a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist is an important book with a message of great urgency especially to all concerned with the future of America s children Booklist In an age when violence and crime by young people is again on the rise No Matter How Loud I Shout offers a rare look inside the juvenile court system that deals with these children and the impact decisions made in the courts had on the rest of their lives Granted unprecedented access to the Los Angeles Juvenile Court including the judges the probation officers and the children themselves Edward Humes creates an unforgettable portrait of a chaotic system that is neither saving our children in danger nor protecting us from adolescent violence Yet he shows us there is also hope in the handful of courageous individuals working tirelessly to triumph over seemingly insurmountable odds Weaving together a poignant compelling narrative with razor sharp investigative reporting No Matter How Loud I Shout is a convincingly reported profoundly disturbing discussion of the Los Angeles juvenile court s failings providing terrifying evidence of the system s inability to slow juvenile crime or to make even a reasonable stab at rehabilitating troubled young offenders Humes draws an alarming portrait of a judicial system in disarray

The War on Kids Cara H. Drinan, 2018 Despite inventing the juvenile court a little more than a century ago the United States has become an international outlier in its juvenile sentencing practices The War on Kids explains how that happened and how policymakers can correct the course of juvenile justice today

The Evolution of the Juvenile Court Barry C. Feld, 2019-06-01 Winner 2020 ACJS Outstanding Book Award given by the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences A major statement on the juvenile justice system by one of America's leading experts The juvenile court lies at the intersection of youth policy and crime policy Its institutional practices reflect our changing ideas about children and crime control The Evolution of the Juvenile Court provides a sweeping overview of the American juvenile justice system's development and change over the past century Noted law professor and criminologist Barry C Feld places special emphasis on changes over the last 25 years the ascendance of get tough crime policies and the more recent Supreme Court recognition that children are different Feld's comprehensive historical analyses trace juvenile courts evolution through four periods the original Progressive Era the Due Process Revolution in the 1960s the Get Tough Era of the 1980s and 1990s and today's Kids Are Different era In each period changes in the economy cities families race and ethnicity and politics have shaped juvenile courts policies and practices Changes in juvenile courts ends and means substance and procedure reflect shifting notions of children's culpability and competence The Evolution of the Juvenile Court examines how conservative politicians used coded racial appeals to advocate get tough policies that equated children with adults and more recent Supreme Court decisions that draw on developmental psychology and neuroscience research to bolster its conclusions about youths reduced criminal responsibility and diminished competence Feld draws on lessons from the past to envision a new developmentally appropriate justice system for children Ultimately providing justice for children requires structural changes to reduce social and economic inequality concentrated poverty in segregated urban areas that disproportionately expose children of color to juvenile courts punitive policies Historical prescriptive and analytical The Evolution of the Juvenile Court evaluates the author's past recommendations to abolish juvenile courts in light of this new evidence and concludes that separate but reformed juvenile courts are necessary to protect children who commit crimes and facilitate their successful transition to adulthood

In My Father's House Fox Butterfield, 2018-10-09 From the Pulitzer Prize winning New York Times journalist a pathbreaking examination of our huge crime and incarceration problem that looks at the influence of the family specifically one Oregon family with a generations long legacy of lawlessness The United States currently holds the distinction of housing nearly one quarter of the world's prison population But our reliance on mass incarceration Fox Butterfield argues misses the intractable reality As few as 5 percent of families account for half of all crime and only 10 percent account for two thirds In introducing us to the Bogle family the author invites us to understand crime in this eye opening new light He chronicles the malignant legacy of criminality passed from parents to children grandchildren and even great grandchildren Examining the long history of the Boggles a white family Butterfield offers a revelatory look at criminality that forces us to disentangle race from our ideas about crime and in doing so strikes at the heart of our deepest stereotypes And he makes clear how these new insights are leading to fundamentally different efforts at reform With his empathic insight and profound knowledge of criminology Butterfield offers us both the indelible tale of one family's transgressions and tribulations and an entirely new way to understand crime in America

Homeless Gail Snyder, 2021-08 One in 30 young people aged 13 to 17 and one in ten 17 to 25 year olds experience homelessness in any year Whether they double up with family or friends couch surf live on the streets or live in motels or shelters homeless youths are often hidden from public view and the impact of their housing instability may be felt for generations Homeless Youth Living on the Streets explores what it is like to be young and homeless what causes youth homelessness and what can be done about it
