Jurs, 1998 How to Design a Program Evaluation Carol Taylor Fitz-Gibbon, Lynn Lyons Morris, 1987-12 The objective of this book is to acquaint the reader with the ways in which evaluation results can be made more credible through careful choice of a design prescribing when and from whom the data will be gathered The book helps the reader choose a design put it into operation and analyze and report the data that has been gathered Program Evaluation Robert L. Schalock, C.V.D. Thornton, 2013-11-11 This book is written to help human service program administrators either interpret or conduct program evaluations Our intended audience includes administrators and those students being trained for careers in human services administration Our focus is on persons interested in assessing programs in which people work with people to improve their condition The book's title Program Evaluation A Field Guide for Administrators describes how we hope you use this book as a tool In writing the book we have attempted to meet the needs of persons who have to conduct program evaluations as well as those who must use those evaluations Hence we have attempted to make the book user friendly You will find for example numerous guidelines cautions and specific suggestions Use the book actively Our primary motive is to help administrators make better decisions In fact the primary reason for program evaluation is to help program administrators make good decisions These decisions often must balance the goals of equity or fairness in the distribution of goods and services among people in the economy efficiency obtaining the most output for the least resources and political feasibility Take for example the administrator who must decide between a new program favored by some of the program's constituents and maintaining the status quo which is favored by other constituents
