American Literature Auburn University. Educational Television Department, Alabama. Educational Television Commission, 1980 Teacher's Guide for American Literature Sis. Ann Carol, 1962 Teacher's Guide for American Literature ,1966 Explore Molly Harrington Dugan, 1990 How to Teach American Literature Elizabeth McCallum Marlow, 2017-09-01 How does one keep classic books alive for young people today and teach them that literature is instructional and delightful How does the teacher foster a classroom environment that encourages student participation and promotes enjoyment so that teenagers learn to appreciate literary study More specifically how can teachers cover centuries of American literature with students who don't appreciate why they should read material written centuries ago about people and issues that appear to be irrelevant to life today in a language that seems esoteric The author of this series of high school teaching guides addresses these issues How to Teach American Literature A Practical Teaching Guide provides a detailed resource for teachers or anyone interested in an in depth study of the subject This second book in the series covers American literature from the Puritan era to contemporary works Included are suggestions for cultivating a love for literature teaching techniques detailed analyses of each work questions for review and test questions with suggested responses essay topics audiovisual aids classroom handouts and recommended books that enhance teaching The author emphasizes two basic reasons for teaching literature it is instructional and delightful This book provides a comprehensive methodology for teaching the subject that a teacher could apply to one year's lesson plans without further investment in time Elizabeth McCallum Marlow has developed quality comprehensive guides for the teaching community based on her thirty five years of experience and her passion for literature Teaching professionals will find her tried and true practices to be invaluable Johnathan Arnold MBA M Ed D Ed Min Headmaster Covenant Christian Academy Cumming GA American Literature : Teacher's Handbook and Key Andrew J. Porter, 1979 Honors of American Literature Center for Learning, Thomas Beach, 1990-09-01 A teacher's guide to various types of literature A Teacher's Guide for Culturally Responsive Teaching in the American Literature Curriculum Jessica Rieskamp, 2019 Edgar Allen Poe Benjamin Franklin Mark Twain Harper Lee John Steinbeck These are some of the greats of American Literature Most are household names recognizable even to those who paid little attention in high school All these authors have something in common they are white In high school American Literature classes white authors come to the forefront Their voices ring for generation upon generation to hear These authors help students understand trends and attitudes of the American past However heavily presenting literature by white authors therefore leaving out other racial voices creates a narrow unrealistic view of United States history It takes out the unique attitudes of the other or the group of people who were not white More specifically the black voice is often skimmed over in American Literature classes Students usually study Fredrick Douglas Langston Hughes and Maya

Angelou However how many more black authors can most students name from their formal education This leaning towards Eurocentric literature rather than Afrocentric is quite paradoxical as American history relies on people of color just as much as white people Another paradox is the presentation of literature about black issues written by white authors white authors write with second hand knowledge of the black experience therefore distorting it By using culturally responsive pedagogy in American Literature classes high school teachers can utilize literature such as Twelve Years a Slave by Solomon Northup I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings by Maya Angelou and Kindred by Octavia Butler in their classrooms to widen students understanding of American literary history and therefore create a more balanced curriculum that has various points of view
