

The Case of the Parabolic Pool Table

The Problem

The problem was that the pool table was not level. The table was curved, and the balls were not rolling straight. The customer was very upset and wanted a refund. The technician checked the table and found that the legs were not adjusted correctly. The technician adjusted the legs and the table was now level. The customer was very happy and paid for the service.

Solution

The solution was to adjust the legs of the pool table. The technician used a level to check the table and found that the legs were not adjusted correctly. The technician adjusted the legs and the table was now level. The customer was very happy and paid for the service.
