How to Be a Heroine Samantha Ellis, 2015-02-03 While debating literature s greatest heroines with her best friend thirtysomething playwright Samantha Ellis has a revelation her whole life she s been trying to be Cathy Earnshaw of Wuthering Heights when she should have been trying to be Jane Eyre With this discovery she embarks on a retrospective look at the literary ladies the characters and the writers whom she has loved since childhood From early obsessions with the March sisters to her later idolization of Sylvia Plath Ellis evaluates how her heroines stack up today And just as she excavates the stories of her favorite characters Ellis also shares a frank often humorous account of her own life growing up in a tight knit Iraqi Jewish community in London Here a life long reader explores how heroines shape all our lives

Exploring Education Alan R. Sadovnik,Peter W. Cookson, Jr.,Susan F. Semel,Ryan W. Coughlan,2017-10-10 This much anticipated fifth edition of Exploring Education offers an alternative to traditional foundations texts by combining a point of view analysis with primary source readings. Pre and in service teachers will find a solid introduction to the foundations disciplines: history, philosophy, politics, and sociology of education, and their application to educational issues including school organization and teaching, curriculum, and pedagogic practices, education and inequality, and school reform and improvement. This edition features substantive updates including additions to the discussion of neo liberal educational policy, recent debates about teacher diversity, updated data and research, and new selections of historical and contemporary readings. At a time when foundations of education are marginalized in many teacher education programs and teacher education reform pushes scripted approaches to curriculum and instruction, Exploring Education helps teachers to think critically about the what and why behind the most pressing issues in contemporary education.

Material Cultures of Childhood in Second World War Britain
Gabriel Moshenska, 2019-04-01. How do children cope when their world is transformed by war? This book draws on memory narratives to construct an historical anthropology of childhood in Second World Britain, focusing on objects and spaces such as gas masks, air raid shelters, and bombed out buildings. In their struggles to cope with the fears and upheavals of wartime, with families divided and familiar landscapes lost or transformed, children reimagined and reshaped these material traces of conflict into toys, treasures, and playgrounds. This study of the material worlds of wartime childhood offers a unique viewpoint into an extraordinary period in history, with powerful resonances across global conflicts into the present day.

The Many-Colored Land
Julian May, 1981-04-17. In the year 2034, Theo Quderian, a French physicist, made an amusing but impractical discovery: the means to use a one-way, fixed-focus time warp that opened into a place in the Rhone River valley during the idyllic Pliocene Epoch, six million years ago. But as time went on, a certain usefulness developed. The misfits and mavericks of the future, many of them brilliant people, began to seek this exit door to a mysterious past. In 2110, a particularly strange and interesting group was preparing to make the journey: a starship captain, a girl athlete, a paleontologist, a woman priest, and others who had reason to flee the technological perfection of twenty-second century life. Thus begins this dazzling fantasy novel that invites comparisons with the work of J.R.R. Tolkien, Arthur C. Clarke, and Ursula Le Quin. It opens up a whole world of wonder, not in far-flung galaxies but in our own distant past on Earth, a world that will captivate not only science fiction and fantasy fans but also those who enjoy literate thrillers. The group that passes through the time portal finds an unforeseen strangeness on the other side. Far from being uninhabited Pliocene Europe is the home of two warring races from another planet. There is the knightly race of the Tanu, handsome, arrogant, and possessing vast powers of psychokinesis and telepathy. And there is the outcast race of Firvulag, dwarfish, malevolent, and gifted with their own supernormal skills. Taken captive by the Tanu and transported through the primordial European landscape, the humans manage to break free, join in an uneasy alliance with the forest-dwelling Firvulag, and finally launch an attack against the Tanu city of light on the banks of a river that eons later would be called the Rhine. Myth and legend, wit and violence, speculative science and breathtaking imagination mingle in this romantic fantasy which is the first volume in a series about the exile world The sequel titled The Golden Torc will follow soon The History of "Punch" Marion Harry Spielmann,1895 Swoon: Great Seducers and Why Women Love Them Betsy Prioleau,2013-02-04 The author of Seductress examines the ladies man and answers the eternal question what do women want Longman Advanced Learners' Grammar Mark Foley,Diane Hall,2003 Liberty and Property Ellen Meiksins Wood,2012-02-01 The formation of the modern state the rise of capitalism the Renaissance and Reformation the scientific revolution and the Age of Enlightenment have all been attributed to the early modern period Nearly everything about its history remains controversial but one thing is certain it left a rich and provocative legacy of political ideas unmatched in Western history The concepts of liberty equality property human rights and revolution born in those turbulent centuries continue to shape and to limit political discourse today Assessing the work and background of figures such as Machiavelli Luther Calvin Spinoza the Levellers Hobbes Locke and Rousseau Ellen Wood vividly explores the ideas of the canonical thinkers not as philosophical abstractions but as passionately engaged responses to the social conflicts of their day A Foreign Affair Gerd Gemünden,2008-04-30 With six Academy Awards four entries on the American Film Institute s list of 100 greatest American movies and more titles on the National Historic Register of classic films deemed worthy of preservation than any other director Billy Wilder counts as one of the most accomplished filmmakers ever to work in Hollywood Yet how American is Billy Wilder the Jewish migr from Central Europe This book underscores this complex issue unpacking underlying contradictions where previous commentators routinely smoothed them out Wilder emerges as an artist with roots in sensationalist journalism and the world of entertainment as well as with an awareness of literary culture and the avant garde features that lead to productive and often highly original confrontations between high and low

Stone,Paul E. Schaffner,2012-12-06 The Psychology of Politics is an introduction to political psychology The field has a long past but as an organized discipline it has a short history The long past is detailed in Jaap van Ginneken s historical first chapter of the book The short history of political psychology as an organized discipline dates from 1978 when the International Society of Political Psychology ISPP was founded Stone 1981 1988 The formal establishment of an interdiscipline drawing upon various social sciences had numerous predecessors in the 20th century Wallas s 1908 Human Nature in Politics Harold Lasswell s Psychopathology and Politics in 1930 a book with the present title by Eysenck 1954 and The Handbook of Political Psychology edited by the founder of the ISPP Jeanne Knutson Her Handbook defined the field at the time of its publication in 1973 see especially Davies chapter The present revision of Stone's 1974 work is more modest in its aspirations It provides a selective introduction to the field emphasizing topics that the authors believe to be representative and important Many psychologically relevant topics such as political socialization participation voting behavior and leadership are not represented among our chapter titles Cultural and Spiritual Significance of Nature in Protected Areas Bas Verschuuren, Steve Brown, 2018-08-15 Cultural and spiritual bonds with nature are among the strongest motivators for nature conservation yet they are seldom taken into account in the governance and management of protected and conserved areas The starting point of this book is that to be sustainable effective and equitable approaches to the management and governance of these areas need to engage with people's deeply held cultural spiritual personal and community values alongside inspiring action to conserve biological geological and cultural diversity Since protected area management and governance have traditionally been based on scientific research a combination of science and spirituality can engage and empower a variety of stakeholders from different cultural and religious backgrounds As evidenced in this volume stakeholders range from indigenous peoples and local communities to those following mainstream religions and those representing the wider public The authors argue that the scope of protected area management and governance needs to be extended to acknowledge the rights responsibilities obligations and aspirations of stakeholder groups and to recognise the cultural and spiritual significance that nature holds for people The book also has direct practical applications These follow the IUCN Best Practice Guidelines for protected and conserved area managers and present a wide range of case studies from around the world including Africa Asia Australia Europe and the Americas
