The Economics of Crowdfunding Douglas Cumming,Lars Hornuf,2018-01-30 This book focuses on various types of crowdfunding and the lessons learned from academic research Crowdfunding a new and important source of financing for entrepreneurs fills a funding gap that was traditionally difficult to close Chapters from expert contributors define and carefully evaluate the various market segments donation based and reward based crowdfunding crowdinvesting and crowdlending They further provide an assessment of startups market structure as well as backers and investors for each segment Attention is given to the theoretical and empirical findings from the recent economics and finance literature Furthermore the authors evaluate relevant regulatory efforts in several jurisdictions This book will appeal to finance entrepreneurship and legal scholars as well as entrepreneurs and platform operators Business Driven Information Systems Paige Baltzan,2008 The Baltzan and Phillips approach in Business Driven Information Systems discusses various business initiatives first and how technology supports those initiatives second The premise for this unique approach is that business initiatives drive technology choices in a corporation Therefore every discussion addresses the business needs first and addresses the technology that supports those needs second This approach takes the difficult and often intangible MIS concepts brings them down to the student s level and applies them using a hands on approach to reinforce the concepts BDIS provides the foundation that will enable students to achieve excellence in business whether they major in operations management manufacturing sales marketing etc BDIS is designed to give students the ability to understand how information technology can be a point of strength in an organization Publisher s website Cyber-Humans Woodrow Barfield,2015-12-17 It is predicted that robots will surpass human intelligence within the next fifty years The ever increasing speed of advances in technology and neuroscience coupled with the creation of super computers and enhanced body parts and artificial limbs is paving the way for a merger of both human and machine Devices which were once worn on the body are now being implanted into the body and as a result a class of true cyborgs who are displaying a range of skills beyond those of normal humans beings are being created There are cyborgs which can see colour by hearing sound others have the ability to detect magnetic fields some are equipped with telephoto lenses to aid their vision or implanted computers to monitor their heart and some use thought to communicate with a computer or to manipulate a robotic arm This is not science fiction these are developments that are really happening now and will continue to develop in the future However a range of legal and policy questions has arisen alongside this rise of artificial intelligence Cyber Humans provides a deep and unique perspective on the technological future of humanity and describes how law and policy will be particularly relevant in creating a fair and equal society and protecting the liberties of different life forms which will emerge in the 21st century Dr Woodrow

Woody Barfield previously headed up the Sensory Engineering Laboratory holding the position of Industrial and Systems Engineering Professor at the University of Washington His research revolves around the design and use of wearable computers and augmented reality systems and holds both JD and LLM degrees in intellectual property law and policy He has published over 350 articles and major presentations in the areas of computer science engineering and law He currently lives in Chapel Hill NC USA
