Vandana Shiva, 2016-06-28 Debunking the notion that our current food crisis must be addressed through industrial agriculture and genetic modification author and activist Vandana Shiva argues that those forces are in fact the ones responsible for the hunger problem in the first place Who Really Feeds the World is a powerful manifesto calling for agricultural justice and genuine sustainability drawing upon Shiva's thirty years of research and accomplishments in the field Instead of relying on genetic modification and large scale monocropping to solve the world's food crisis she proposes that we look to agroecology the knowledge of the interconnectedness that creates food as a truly life giving alternative to the industrial paradigm Shiva succinctly and eloquently lays out the networks of people and processes that feed the world exploring issues of diversity the needs of small farmers the importance of seed saving the movement toward localization and the role of women in producing the world's food

Stolen Harvest Vandana Shiva, 2016-01-14 For the farmer the seed is not merely the source of future plants and food it is a vehicle through which culture and history can be preserved and spread to future generations For centuries farmers have evolved crops and produced an incredible diversity of plants that provide life sustaining nutrition In India alone the ingenuity of farmers has produced over 200 000 varieties of rice many of which now line store shelves around the world This productive tradition however is under attack as globalized corporate regimes increasingly exploit intellectual property laws to annex these sustaining seeds and remove them from the public sphere In Stolen Harvest The Hijacking of the Global Food Supply Shiva explores the devastating effects of commercial agriculture and genetic engineering on the food we eat the farmers who grow it and the soil that sustains it This prescient critique and call to action covers some of the most pressing topics of this ongoing dialogue from the destruction of local food cultures and the privatization of plant life to unsustainable industrial fish farming and safety concerns about corporately engineered foods The preeminent agricultural activist and scientist of a generation Shiva implores the farmers and consumers of the world to make a united stand against the genetically modified crops and untenable farming practices that endanger the seeds and plants that give us life

Monocultures of the Mind Vandana Shiva,1993-02 Vandana Shiva has established herself as a leading independent thinker and voice for the South in that critically important nexus where questions of development strategy the environment and the position of women in society coincide In this new volume she brings together her thinking on the protection of biodiversity the implications of biotechnology and the consequences for agriculture of the global pre eminence of Western style scientific knowledge In lucid and accessible fashion she examines the current threats to the planet s biodiversity and the environmental and human consequences of its erosion and replacement by monocultural production She shows how the new Biodiversity Convention has been gravely undermined by a mixture of diplomatic dilution during the process of negotiation and Northern hi tech interests making money out of the new biotechnologies She explains what these technologies involve and gives examples of their impact in practice She questions their claims to improving natural species for the good of all and highlights the ethical and environmental problems posed Underlying her arguments is the view that the North s particular approach to scientific understanding has led to a system of monoculture in agriculture a model that is not being foisted on the South displacing its societies ecologically sounder indigenous and age old experiences of truly sustainable food cultivation forest management and animal husbandry This rapidly accelerating process of technology and system transfer is impoverishing huge numbers of people disrupting the social systems that provide them with security and dignity and will ultimately result in a sterile planet in both North and South In a policy intervention of potentially great significance she calls instead for a halt at international as well as local level to the aid and market incentives to both large scale destruction of habitats where biodiversity thrives and the introduction of centralised homogenous systems of cultivation

Eating Fossil Fuels Dale Allen Pfeiffer, 2006-10-01 A shocking outline of the interlinked crises in energy and agriculture and appropriate responses The miracle of the Green Revolution was made possible by cheap fossil fuels to supply crops with artificial fertilizer pesticides and irrigation Estimates of the net energy balance of agriculture in the US show that ten calories of hydrocarbon energy are required to produce one calorie of food Such an imbalance cannot continue in a world of diminishing hydrocarbon resources Eating Fossil Fuels examines the interlinked crises of energy and agriculture and highlights some startling findings The world wide expansion of agriculture has appropriated fully 40% of the photosynthetic capability of this planet The Green Revolution provided abundant food sources for many resulting in a population explosion well in excess of the planet's carrying capacity Studies suggest that without fossil fuel based agriculture the US could only sustain about two thirds of its present population For the planet as a whole the sustainable number is estimated to be about two billion Concluding that the effect of energy depletion will be disastrous without a transition to a sustainable relocalized agriculture the book draws on the experiences of North Korea and Cuba to demonstrate stories of failure and success in the transition to non hydrocarbon based agriculture It urges strong grassroots activism for sustainable localized agriculture and a natural shrinking of the world's population Dale Allen Pfeiffer is a novelist freelance journalist and geologist who has been writing about energy depletion for a decade The author of The End of the Oil Age he is also widely known for his web project www.survivingpeakoil.com

Slow Violence and the Environmentalism of the Poor Rob Nixon, 2011-06-01 The violence wrought by climate change toxic drift deforestation oil spills and the environmental aftermath of war takes place gradually and often invisibly Using the innovative concept of slow violence to describe these threats Rob Nixon focuses on the inattention we have paid to the attritional lethality of many environmental crises in contrast with the sensational spectacle driven messaging that impels public activism today Slow violence because it is so readily ignored by a hard charging capitalism exacerbates the vulnerability of ecosystems and of people who are poor disempowered and often involuntarily displaced while fueling social conflicts that arise from desperation as life sustaining conditions erode In a book of extraordinary scope Nixon examines a cluster of writer activists affiliated with the environmentalism of the poor in the global South By approaching environmental justice literature from this transnational perspective he exposes the limitations of the national and local frames that dominate environmental writing And by skillfully illuminating the strategies these writer activists deploy to give dramatic visibility to environmental emergencies Nixon invites his readers to engage with some of the most pressing challenges of our time
