Secularization and Religious Innovation in the North Atlantic World David Hempton, Hugh McLeod, 2017-05-12

In the early twenty first century it had become a cliché that there was a God Gap between a more religious United States and a more secular Europe The apparent religious differences between the United States and western Europe continue to be a focus of intense and sometimes bitter debate between three of the main schools in the sociology of religion According to the influential Secularization Thesis secularization has been an integral part of the processes of modernisation in the Western world since around 1800 For proponents of this thesis the United States appears as an anomaly and they accordingly give considerable attention to explaining why it is different For other sociologists however the apparently high level of religiosity in the USA provides a major argument in their attempts to refute the Thesis

Secularization and Religious Innovation in the Atlantic World provides a systematic comparison between the religious histories of the United States and western European countries from the eighteenth to the late twentieth century noting parallels as well as divergences examining their causes and especially highlighting change over time This is achieved by a series of themes which seem especially relevant to this agenda and in each case the theme is considered by two scholars The volume examines whether American Christians have been more innovative and if so how far this explains the apparent God Gap It goes beyond the simple American European binary to ask what is American or European in the Christianity of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and in what ways national or regional differences outweigh these commonalities

Mormonism and the Emotions Mauro Properzi, 2015-05-21 Mormonism and the Emotions An Analysis of LDS Scriptural Texts is an introductory Latterday Saint LDS theology of emotion that is both canonically based and scientifically informed It highlights three widely accepted characteristics of emotion that emerge from scientific perspectives namely the necessity of cognition for its emergence the personal responsibility attached to its manifestations and its instrumentality in facilitating various processes of human development and experience In analyzing the basic theological structure of Mormonism and its unique canonical texts the objective is to determine the extent to which LDS theology is compatible with this three fold definition of emotion At this basic level of explanation the conclusion is that science and Mormon theology undoubtedly share a common perspective The textual investigation focuses on unique Mormon scriptures and on their descriptions of six common emotions hope fear joy sorrow love and hate For each of these emotional phenomena the extensive report of textual references consistently confirms an implied presence of the outlined three fold model of emotion Thus the evidence points to the presence of an underlying folk model of emotion in the text that broadly matches scientific definitions Additionally the theological examination is enlarged with a particular focus on the Mormon theology of atonement which is shown to play a significant role in LDS understandings of emotions A broad exploration of such areas as epistemology cosmology soteriology and the theological anthropology of Mormonism further contextualizes the analysis and roots it in the LDS theological worldview

Mormonism 101 Bill McKeever, Eric Johnson, 2015-04-14 Mormonism is one of the fastest growing religions in the world For those who have wondered in what specific ways Mormonism differs from the Christian faith Mormonism 101 provides definitive answers examining the major tenets of Mormon theology and comparing them with orthodox Christian beliefs Perfect for students of religion and anyone who wants to have answers when Mormons come calling

Second-Class Saints Matthew L. Contemporary Mormon Pageantry Megan Sanborn Jones, 2018-08-21 In Contemporary Mormon Pageantry theater scholar Megan Sanborn Jones looks at Mormon pageants outdoor theatrical productions that celebrate church theology reenact church history and bring to life stories from the Book of Mormon She examines four annual pageants in the United States the Hill Cumorah Pageant in upstate New York the Manti Pageant in Utah the Nauvoo Pageant in Illinois and the Mesa Easter Pageant in Arizona The nature and extravagance of the pageants vary by location with some live orchestras dancing and hundreds of costumed performers mostly local church members Based on deep historical research and enhanced by the author s interviews with pageant producers and cast members as well as the author s own experiences as a participant observer the book reveals the strategies by which these pageants resurrect the Mormon past on stage Jones analyzes the place of the productions within the American theatrical landscape and draws connections between the Latter day Saints theology of the redemption of the dead and Mormon pageantry in the three related sites of sacred space participation and spectatorship Using a combination of religious and performance theory Jones demonstrates that Mormon pageantry is a rich and complex site of engagement between theater theology and praxis that explores the saving power of performance The Bible in Folklore Worldwide Eric Ziolkowski,2023-12-31
