Registries for Evaluating Patient Outcomes Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality/AHRQ, 2014-04-01 This User's Guide is intended to support the design, implementation, analysis, interpretation, and quality evaluation of registries created to increase understanding of patient outcomes. For the purposes of this guide, a patient registry is an organized system that uses observational study methods to collect uniform data, clinical and other, to evaluate specified outcomes for a population defined by a particular disease condition or exposure and that serves one or more predetermined scientific, clinical, or policy purposes. A registry database is a file or files derived from the registry. Although registries can serve many purposes, this guide focuses on registries created for one or more of the following purposes: to describe the natural history of disease; to determine clinical effectiveness or cost effectiveness of health care products and services; to measure or monitor safety and harm; and/or to measure quality of care. Registries are classified according to how their populations are defined. For example, product registries include patients who have been exposed to biopharmaceutical products or medical devices. Health services registries consist of patients who have had a common procedure, clinical encounter, or hospitalization. Disease or condition registries are defined by patients having the same diagnosis, such as cystic fibrosis or heart failure. The User's Guide was created by researchers affiliated with AHRQ's Effective Health Care Program, particularly those who participated in AHRQ's DEcIDE (Developing Evidence to Inform Decisions About Effectiveness) program. Chapters were subject to multiple internal and external independent reviews.

The Structuring of Organizations Henry Mintzberg, 2009 Synthesizes the empirical literature on organizational structuring to answer the question of how organizations structure themselves, how they resolve needed coordination and division of labor. Organizational structuring is defined as the sum total of the ways in which an organization divides and coordinates its labor.

into distinct tasks Further analysis of the research literature is needed in order to build a conceptual framework that will fill in the significant gap left by not connecting a description of structure to its context how an organization actually functions The results of the synthesis are five basic configurations the Simple Structure the Machine Bureaucracy the Professional Bureaucracy the Divisionalized Form and the Adhocracy that serve as the fundamental elements of structure in an organization Five basic parts of the contemporary organization the operating core the strategic apex the middle line the technostructure and the support staff and five theories of how it functions i.e. as a system characterized by formal authority regulated flows informal communication work constellations and ad hoc decision processes are theorized Organizations function in complex and varying ways due to differing flows including flows of authority work material information and decision processes These flows depend on the age size and environment of the organization additionally technology plays a key role because of its importance in structuring the operating core Finally design parameters are described based on the above five basic parts and five theories that are used as a means of coordination and division of labor in designing organizational structures in order to establish stable patterns of behavior CJC
