Mind in Life Evan Thompson,2010-09-30 How is life related to the mind The question has long confounded philosophers and scientists and it is this so called explanatory gap between biological life and consciousness that Evan Thompson explores in Mind in Life Thompson draws upon sources as diverse as molecular biology evolutionary theory artificial life complex systems theory neuroscience psychology Continental Phenomenology and analytic philosophy to argue that mind and life are more continuous than has previously been accepted and that current explanations do not adequately address the myriad facets of the biology and phenomenology of mind Where there is life Thompson argues there is mind life and mind share common principles of self organization and the self organizing features of mind are an enriched version of the self organizing features of life Rather than trying to close the explanatory gap Thompson marshals philosophical and scientific analyses to bring unprecedented insight to the nature of life and consciousness This synthesis of phenomenology and biology helps make Mind in Life a vital and long awaited addition to his landmark volume The Embodied Mind Cognitive Science and Human Experience coauthored with Eleanor Rosch and Francisco Varela Endlessly interesting and accessible Mind in Life is a groundbreaking addition to the fields of the theory of the mind life science and phenomenology

The series Topics in Current Chemistry presents critical reviews of the present and future trends in modern chemical research The scope of coverage is all areas of chemical science including the interfaces with related disciplines such as biology medicine and materials science The goal of each thematic volume is to give the non specialist reader whether in academia or industry a comprehensive insight into an area where new research is emerging which is of interest to a larger scientific audience Each review within the volume critically surveys one aspect of that topic and places it within the context of the volume as a whole The most significant developments of the last 5 to 10 years are presented using selected examples to illustrate the principles discussed The coverage is not intended to be an exhaustive summary of the field or include large quantities of data but should rather be conceptual concentrating on the methodological thinking that will allow the non specialist reader to understand the information presented Contributions also offer an outlook on potential future developments in the field Review articles for the individual volumes are invited by the volume editors Readership research chemists at universities or in industry graduate students International Accounting Timothy S.
