

THE BUS DRIVER'S DAUGHTER

by H.O. Santos

BY the time I got to Bora Bora I wasn't shy anymore about asking strangers for favors. I always offered something in return and almost everyone seemed to appreciate that although I knew they mostly didn't need what I had to offer.

Like yesterday, I spent a wonderful day on Motu Moute as the guest of a couple who tended a small watermelon patch on that barrier island, one of the many motu that surround Bora Bora. When I heard they were going to work on their farm, I offered to help for free. They thought I was nuts—the dry season was over, they said, and there'd be mosquitoes and gnats on the island. They laughed but finally said okay, undoubtedly to humor a fool as much as they needed help.

They weren't kidding. There were lots of gnats and the mosquitoes were only waiting to take over at night. There wasn't much work—there wasn't enough weeds for three people to pull out and the plants were doing well. It was quite an enjoyable day for the island was beautiful and pristine—very few people go there to mess it up. For lunch we ate fish caught on the way over, broiled over charcoal from the coconut leaves I collected. I even managed to do some swimming in the calm lagoon waters.

I was on my third day in Vaitape, the main town in Bora Bora. It had a pier which wasn't very busy—only little boats and small cruise ships docked there. For the third day in a row, I saw the brown dog that seemed to have made the pier his home. He would meet every ship that came in and look at the faces of everyone who disembarked, as if looking for a long-lost master who had sailed away one day and never came back. I wondered if his master had left his island home for the same reasons I left mine when I was twenty-one. I felt sorry for the dog because I had already learned what "you can never come home again" meant.

I worried about what I was going to do the rest of the day when I saw a je truck that looked like it might be a tour bus. I went to the driver and asked. Her name was Teroo and yes, she was waiting to take tourists from a cruise ship on a circle island tour.

"Can I help? I speak English."

"What do I need you for, I speak English myself. Everyone in the tour industry does."

"I don't want any money—I just want to help you round your passengers up after each stop. Surely, you don't want to lose any of them."

She laughed loud in such an infectious manner I thought perhaps I had told a good joke. "I haven't lost anyone yet. This is a very small island. How can anyone get lost?"
