Cash inflows: Cash inflows mean receipt of Cash or flow of cash into the organisation. Cash Inflows are also known as Profits after taxes but before depreciation.

Calculation of Cash Inflows:

| Particulars | Amount in Rs. |
|---|---------------|
| Profits Before Depreciation and Taxes | Xxxxxx |
| Less: Depreciation | Xxxx |
| | ----- |
| Profits after Depreciation | Xxxxxx |
| Less: Income-tax (Normally in Percentage) | Xxxxx |
| | ----- |
| Profits after Depreciation and Income-tax | Xxxxx |
| Add: Depreciation | Xxxxxx |
| Cash Inflows | ----- |

Cash Inflows are two types:

- 1) Annuity Cash Inflows: If Cash inflows are even every year they are called Annuity Cash Inflows.
- 2) Mixed Stream: If Cash Inflows are Unequal in every year such Cash Inflows are called Mixed Stream Cash Inflows

Problem: 1

A machine costs Rs. 1,00,000. And has no scrap value. It is depreciated on straight line basis. Find out Cash Inflows when the rate of Income Tax is 50%. Life of the asset is 5 years

| Year | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 |
|--|--------|--------|----------|--------|--------|
| Profits Before Depreciation and Income-tax (Rs.) | 80,000 | 60,000 | 1,00,000 | 40,000 | 40,000 |

Solution:

| Year | Profits before depreciation and income-tax (Rs.) | Depreciation (Rs.) | Profits after Depreciation (Rs.) | Income-tax (@ 50%) | Profits after depreciation and income-tax (Rs.) / Accounting profit | CIF (Rs.) |
|------|--|--------------------|----------------------------------|--------------------|---|-----------|
| 1 | 80,000 | 20,000 | 60,000 | 30,000 | 30,000 | 50,000 |
| 2 | 60,000 | 20,000 | 40,000 | 20,000 | 20,000 | 40,000 |
| 3 | 1,00,000 | 20,000 | 80,000 | 40,000 | 40,000 | 60,000 |
| 4 | 40,000 | 20,000 | 20,000 | 10,000 | 10,000 | 30,000 |
| 5 | 40,000 | 20,000 | 20,000 | 10,000 | 10,000 | 30,000 |

Depreciation = (Cost of Investment + Installation Charges - Scrap Value) / Life of the asset
 Rs. 1,00,000 + 0 + 0 / 5 Years = Rs. 1,00,000 / 5 Years = Rs. 20,000

Cash Inflow = Accounting Profit + Depreciation

Accounting Profit = CIF - Depreciation

Zutter, 2010-05 Procedures for Capital Budgeting Under Uncertainty Stewart C. Myers, 2015-06-25 Excerpt from Procedures for Capital Budgeting Under Uncertainty Accordingly the cost of capital is defined as the minimum expected rate of return on a project with given risk characteristics such that share price is increased by the project's adoption The cost of capital is thus used as a hurdle rate with the height of the barrier depending on the risk characteristics of the project compared with those of alternative investments open to shareholders It is easy to point out deficiencies in this NPV approach for instance most authors are conspicuously vague about how to measure the hurdle rates appropriate to projects with different risk characteristics The important point for our purposes however is that the NPV approach presumes projects to be risk independent That is it presumes that the value of project B does not depend on the risk characteristics of the firm's existing assets or of other investments the firm may undertake 2 Treat capital budgeting as a problem of portfolio selection The framework for portfolio selection originally presented by Markowitz 10 11 is now well known and widely accepted although difficulties in assembling data and performing the required calculations have limited its use in practice The similarity between the tasks of portfolio selection and capital budgeting has led Lintner among others to conclude that the problem of determining the best capital budget of any given size is formally identical to the solution of a security portfolio analysis About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Capital Budgeting John J. Sagner, 2007 Capital budgeting techniques that use discounted cash flow analysis are widely recommended in the financial literature and frequently used by business However there is accumulating evidence that companies are reluctant to commit funds to long term projects The most likely explanation is that actual experience has resulted in disappointing returns often below a company's cost of capital No capital budgeting technique currently in use applies probabilities to future inflow estimates to adjust the financial analysis to previous experience with the requesting business unit The discounted payback plus technique recommended in this paper may be a reasonable alternative approach to the analysis of a capital budgeting project yielding more conservative results based on the expected value of cash inflows beyond the point of payback Improving Capital Budgeting Lawrence A. Gordon, George E. Pinches, 1984 Capital Budgeting Don Dayananda, Richard Irons, Steve Harrison, John Herbohn, Patrick Rowland, 2002-10-17

This book explains the financial appraisal of capital budgeting projects. The coverage extends from the development of basic concepts, principles, and techniques to the application of them in increasingly complex and real-world situations. Identification and estimation, including forecasting of cash flows, project appraisal formulae, and the application of net present value (NPV), internal rate of return (IRR), and other project evaluation criteria are illustrated with a variety of calculation examples. Risk analysis is extensively covered by the use of risk-adjusted discount rate, certainty equivalent, sensitivity simulation, and Monte Carlo analysis. The NPV and IRR models are further applied to forestry, property, and international investments. Resource constraints are introduced to the capital budgeting decisions with a variety of worked examples using linear programming technique. All calculations are extensively supported by Excel workbooks on the Web, and each chapter is well reviewed by end-of-chapter questions.
