Handbook of Special Education James M. Kauffman, Daniel P. Hallahan, Paige Cullen Pullen, 2017-05-25 The purpose of the Handbook of Special Education is to help profile and bring greater clarity to the already sprawling and continuously expanding field of special education. To ensure consistency across the volume chapter authors review and integrate existing research, identify strengths and weaknesses, note gaps in the literature, and discuss implications for practice and future research. The second edition has been fully updated throughout to take into account recent changes to federal laws as well as the most current academic research, and an entirely new section has been added on research methods in special education.

Using Case Study in Education Research Lorna Hamilton, Connie Corbett-Whittier, 2012-11-19 This book provides an accessible introduction to using case studies. It makes sense of literature in this area and shows how to generate collaborations and communicate findings. The authors bring together the practical and the theoretical, enabling readers to build expertise on the principles and practice of case study research, as well as engaging with possible theoretical frameworks. They also highlight the place of case study as a key component of educational research. With the help of this book, M Level students, teacher educators, and practitioner researchers will gain the confidence and skills needed to design and conduct a high quality case study. Dr Lorna Hamilton is a Senior Lecturer in Education Research at the University of Edinburgh. Dr Connie Corbett Whittier is an Associate Professor of English and Humanities at Friends University, Topeka, Kansas. Drawing on a wide range of their own and others' experiences, the authors offer a comprehensive and convincing account of the value of case study in educational research. What comes across quite passionately is the way in which a case study approach can bring to life some of the complexities, challenges, and contradictions inherent in educational settings. The book is written in a clear and lively manner and should be an invaluable resource for those teachers and students who are incorporating a case study dimension into their research work. Ian Menter, Professor of Teacher Education, University of Oxford. This book is comprehensive in its coverage yet detailed in its exposition of case study research. It is a highly interactive text with a critical edge and is a useful tool for teaching. It is of particular relevance to practitioner researchers providing accessible guidance for reflective practice. It covers key matters such as purposes, ethics, data analysis, technology, dissemination, and communities for research. And it is a good read. Professor Anne Campbell, formerly of Leeds Metropolitan University. This excellent book is a principled and theoretically informed guide to case study research design and methods for the collection, analysis, and presentation of evidence. Professor Andrew Pollard, Institute of Education, University of London. Research Methods in Education series. Each book in this series maps the territory of a key research approach or topic in order to help readers progress from beginner to advanced researcher. Each book aims to provide a definitive, market-leading overview and to present a blend of theory and practice with a critical edge. All titles in the series are written for Master's level students anywhere and are intended to be useful to the many diverse constituencies interested in research on education and related areas. Other books in the series: Qualitative Research in Education, Atkins and Wallace; Action Research in Education, McAteer; Ethnography in Education, Mills and Morton.

The Research Process in Educational Settings Robert G. Burgess, 2011-12-08 This book presents a series of research biographies based on research experiences in the study of educational settings. The main aim is to provide a set of first person accounts on doing research that combine analysis with description. The contributors have been drawn from the disciplines of sociology and educational studies and have all conducted ethnographic work or case studies in a variety of educational settings.
