A Rose for Emily and Other Stories William Faulkner, 2012-04-18 Here is a classic collection from one of America s greatest authors Though these short stories have universal appeal they are intensely local in setting With the exception of Turn About which derives from the time of the First World War all these tales unfold in a small town in Mississippi William Faulkner s birthplace and lifelong home Some stories such as A Rose for Emily The Hound and That Evening Sun are famous displaying an uncanny blend of the homely and the horrifying But others though less well known are equally colorful and characteristic The gently nostalgic Delta Autumn provides a striking contrast to Dry September and Barn Burning which are intensely dramatic As the editor Saxe Commins states in his illuminating Foreword These eight stories reflect the deep love and loathing the tenderness and contempt the identification and repudiation William Faulkner has felt for the traditions and the way of life of his own portion of the world

Pearls, Politics, and Power Madeleine Kunin, 2008-04-15 Pearls Politics and Power is a call to action for new political engagement and leadership from the women of America. Informed by conversations with elected women leaders from all levels, former three-term Vermont Governor and Ambassador to Switzerland Madeleine M. Kunin asks: What difference do women make? What is the worst part of politics and what is the best part? What inspired these women to run and how did they prepare themselves for public life? How did they raise money, protect their families' privacy, deal with criticism and attack ads, and work with the good old boys? Kunin's core message is that America needs an infusion of new leadership to better address the major problems of our time. To see how women can achieve that goal, she combines her personal experience in politics, the lessons of past women's movements, the stories of young women today who have new ideas about their role in society, and interviews with a wide range of women in positions of power, looking for clues to their leadership as well as the effects of gender stereotyping. She interviews Senator Hillary Rodham Clinton, analyzes her campaign, and addresses the question: Is the country ready? Other interviewees include U.S. Representatives Loretta Sanchez, Linda Sanchez, Deborah Pryce, and Tammy Baldwin, and U.S. Senators Susan Collins, Amy Klobuchar, and Carol Moseley Braun, and Governors Kathleen Sibelius and Janet Napolitano. The next generation of women will be inspired to lead by seeing women like Nancy Pelosi wielding the gavel and seeing themselves reflected in the portraits in statehouses, courthouses, corporate and university boardrooms, and the White House. Pearls Politics and Power will help ensure that this inspiration is not soured or deflected but channeled into successful candidacies by America's leaders of tomorrow. What will it take for women to assume their rightful places in the political corridors of power?

That Evening Sun William Faulkner, 2013-03-19 Quentin Compson narrates the story of his family's African American washerwoman Nancy who fears that her husband will murder her because she is pregnant with a white man's child. The events in the story are witnessed by a young Quentin and his two siblings, Caddy and Jason, who do not fully understand the adult world of race and class conflict that they are privy to. Although primarily known for his novels, William Faulkner wrote in a variety of formats, including plays, poetry, essays, screenplays, and short stories, many of which are highly acclaimed and anthologized. Like his novels, many of Faulkner's short stories are set in fictional Yoknapatawpha County, a setting inspired by Lafayette County where Faulkner spent most of his life. His first short story collection, These 13 (1931), includes many of his most frequently anthologized stories, including "A Rose for Emily," "Red Leaves," and "That Evening Sun." HarperCollins brings great works of literature to life in digital format, upholding the highest standards in ebook production and celebrating reading in all its forms. The Dash Linda Ellis, 2012-04-16 When your life is over, everything you did will be represented by a single dash between two dates. What will that dash mean for the people you have known and loved? As Joseph Epstein once said, "We do not choose to be born. We do not choose our parents or the country of our birth. We do not, most of us, choose to die. But within this realm of choicelessness, we do choose how we live. And that is what The Dash is all about." Beginning with an inspiring poem by Linda Ellis titled "The Dash," renowned author Mac Anderson then applies his own signature commentary on how the poem motivates us to make certain choices in our lives: choices to ignore the calls of selfishness and instead reach out to others, using our God-given abilities to brighten their days and lighten their loads. After all, at the end of life, how we will be remembered, whether our dash represents a full, joyous life of seeking God's glory or merely the space between birth and death, will be entirely up to the people we've left behind, the lives we've changed.
