Obsessed by a Dream Aashild Sørheim, 2019-01-01 This Open Access biography chronicles the life and achievements of the Norwegian engineer and physicist Rolf Widerøe Readers who meet him in the pages of this book will wonder why he isn't better known The first of Widerøe's many pioneering contributions in the field of accelerator physics was the betatron He later went on to build the first radiation therapy machine an advance that would eventually revolutionize cancer treatment Hospitals worldwide installed his machine and today's modern radiation treatment equipment is based on his inventions Widerøe's story also includes a fair share of drama particularly during World War II when both Germans and the Allies vied for his collaboration Widerøe held leading positions in multinational industry groups and was one of the consultants for building the world's largest nuclear laboratory CERN in Switzerland He gained over 200 patents received several honorary doctorates and a number of international awards The author a professional writer and maker of TV documentaries has gained access to hitherto restricted archives in several countries which provided a wealth of new material and insights in particular in relation to the war years She tells here a gripping and illuminating story

Hunting and Fishing in the New South Scott E. Giltner,2008-12-01 This innovative study re examines the dynamics of race relations in the post Civil War South from an altogether fresh perspective field sports In the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries wealthy white men from Southern cities and the industrial North traveled to the hunting and fishing lodges of the old Confederacy escaping from the office to socialize among like minded peers These sportsmen depended on local black guides who knew the land and fishing holes and could ensure a successful outing For whites the ability to hunt and fish freely and employ black laborers became a conspicuous display of their wealth and social standing But hunting and fishing had been a way of life for all Southerners blacks included since colonial times After the war African Americans used their mastery of these sports to enter into market activities normally denied people of color thereby becoming more economically independent from their white employers Whites came to view black participation in hunting and fishing as a serious threat to the South s labor system Scott E Giltner shows how African American freedom developed in this racially tense environment how blacks sense of competence and authority flourished in a Jim Crow setting Giltner s thorough research using slave narratives sportsmen s recollections records of fish and game clubs and sporting periodicals offers a unique perspective on the African American struggle for independence from the end of the Civil War to the 1920s

Winning a Future War Norman Friedman,Naval History and Heritage Command,U. S. Department Of The Navy,2019-02 To win in the Pacific during World War II the U S Navy had to transform itself technically tactically and strategically It had to create a fleet capable of the unprecedented feat of fighting and winning far from home without existing bases in the face of an enemy with numerous bases fighting in his own waters Much of the credit for the transformation should go to the war gaming conducted at the U S Naval War College Conversely as we face further demands for transformation the inter war experience at the War College offers valuable guidance as to what works and why and how
