conducting laboratory assignments, we are required to adhere to the following safety procedures. These procedures must be followed at all times in the laboratory setting. Before conducting any laboratory assignment, we must ensure that we are following the safety procedures appropriately and following laboratory safety rules and guidelines that are outlined in the laboratory safety manual.

1. Check for laboratory safety signs for the procedures. Each lab's set of procedures provide off paper sheets that are printed in primary or color depending on the procedure. Use the lab's safety signs and signage for safety in the laboratory.
2. Identify the position of your laboratory. The laboratory safety signs and signage will identify each procedure.
