New Technological Applications for Foreign and Second Language Learning and Teaching Kruk, Mariusz, Peterson, Mark, 2020-03-13 Population diversity is becoming more prevalent globally with increasing immigration, emigration and refugee placement. These circumstances increase the likelihood that a child will be raised speaking a different language in the home than the common language used in each country. This necessitates the development of comprehensive strategies that promote second language learning through the adoption of new technological advancements. New Technological Applications for Foreign and Second Language Learning and Teaching is a scholarly publication that explores how the latest technologies have the potential to engage foreign and second language learners both within and outside the language classroom and to facilitate language learning and teaching in the target language. Highlighting a range of topics such as learning analytics, digital games and telecollaboration, this book is ideal for teachers, instructional designers, curriculum developers, IT consultants, educational software developers, language learning specialists, academicians, administrators, professionals, researchers and students.

Engineering, Second Edition Phillip C. Wankat, Frank S. Oreovicz,2015-01-15 The majority of professors have never had a formal course in education and the most common method for learning how to teach is on the job training This represents a challenge for disciplines with ever more complex subject matter and a lost opportunity when new active learning approaches to education are yielding dramatic improvements in student learning and retention This book aims to cover all aspects of teaching engineering and other technical subjects It presents both practical matters and educational theories in a format useful for both new and experienced teachers It is organized to start with specific practical teaching applications and then leads to psychological and educational theories The practical orientation section explains how to develop objectives and then use them to enhance student learning and the theoretical orientation section discusses the theoretical basis for learning teaching and its impact on students Written mainly for PhD students and professors in all areas of engineering the book may be used as a text for graduate level classes and professional workshops or by professionals who wish to read it on their own

Although the focus is engineering education most of this book will be useful to teachers in other disciplines Teaching is a complex human activity so it is impossible to develop a formula that guarantees it will be excellent However the methods in this book will help all professors become good teachers while spending less time preparing for the classroom This is a new edition of the well received volume published by McGraw Hill in 1993 It includes an entirely revised section on the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology ABET and new sections on the characteristics of great teachers different active learning methods the application of technology in the classroom from clickers to intelligent tutorial systems and how people learn

Time To Know Them Marilyn S. Sternglass,2017-09-25 In a time of declining resources in institutions of higher education we grapple with how priorities are to be set for the limited resources available Most vulnerable are those students labeled underprepared by colleges and universities Should we argue that the limited resources available ought to be used to support these students through their undergraduate years And if we decide that we want to do that what evidence of their potential for success can we provide that will justify the use of these resources Through longitudinal research that follows students who have been so labeled over all their college years we can begin to find answers to these questions Time to Know Them is the first book that follows the experiences of a group of students over their entire academic experience No previous studies have brought together the factors incorporated in this study examining writing and learning on a true longitudinal basis studying a multicultural urban population investigating the relationship between writing and learning by examining papers written over time for regularly assigned academic courses across a range of disciplines and taking into consideration non academic factors that influence academic performance such as race gender socio economic status and ideological orientation Through interviews twice a semester over six years the collection of papers written for all courses observations of instructional settings and analysis of required institutional tests of writing the author has been able to pull together a more complete picture of writing and intellectual development over the college years than has previously been available in any study Students are seen to acquire the ability to handle more complex reasoning tasks as they find themselves in more challenging intellectual settings and where risk taking and exploration of new ideas are valued The integration of students previous life experiences into their academic studies allows them to analyze critique modify and apply their previously held world views to their new learning These changes are seen to occur over time with instructional settings and support providing key roles in writing development Personal factors in students lives present difficulties that require persistence and dedication to overcome Never before have the complexities of real individual lives as they affect academic performance been so clearly presented Peterson's Graduate Programs in Engineering & Applied Sciences, Aerospace/Aeronautical Engineering, Agricultural Engineering & Bioengineering, and Architectural Engineering 2011
