Refugee Protection and the Role of Law Susan Kneebone,Dallal Stevens,Loretta Baldassar,2014-06-27 Sixty years on from the signing of the Refugee Convention forced migration and refugee movements continue to raise global concerns for hosting states and regions for countries of origin for humanitarian organisations on the ground and of course for the refugee This edited volume is framed around two themes which go to the core of contemporary refugeehood protection and identity It analyses how the issue of refugee identity is shaped by and responds to the legal regime of refugee protection in contemporary times The book investigates the premise that there is a narrowing of protection space in many countries and many highly visible incidents of refoulement It argues that Protection which is a core focus of the Refugee Convention appears to be under threat as there are many gaps and inconsistencies in practice Contributors to the volume who include Erika Feller Elspeth Guild H l ne Lambert and Roger Zetter look at the relevant issues from the perspective of a number of different disciplines including law politics sociology and anthropology The chapters examine the link between identity and protection as a basis for understanding how the Refugee Convention has been and is being applied in policy and practice The situation in a number of jurisdictions and regions in Europe North America South East Asia Africa and the Middle East is explored in order to ask the question does jurisprudence under the Refugee Convention need better coordination and how successful is oversight of the Convention

Mapping Equity and Quality in Mathematics Education Bill Atweh, Mellony Graven, Walter Secada, Paola Valero, 2011-01-06 Concerns about quality mathematics education are often posed in terms of the types of mathematics that are worthwhile and valuable for both the student and society in general and about how to best support students so that they can develop this mathematics Concerns about equity are about who is excluded from the opportunity to develop quality mathematics within our current practices and systems and about how to remove social barriers that systematically disadvantage those students This collection of chapters summarises our learning about the achievement of both equity and quality agendas in mathematics education and to move forward the debate on their importance for the field and 2001 from 3.0 million in 1991 to 4.6 million in 2001. Whilst much has been written about the impact of these demographic changes in relation to policy issues, black and minority women and children remain under-researched. Recent publications have tended to focus on South Asian women, forced marriage and honour-related violence. Moving in the Shadows brings together for the first time in a single volume an examination of violence against women and children within the diverse communities of the UK. Its strength lies in its gendered focus as well as its understanding of the need for an integrated approach to all forms of violence against women, whilst foregrounding the experiences of minority women, the communities they are part of and the organizations which have advocated for their rights and given them voice. The chapters contained within this volume explore a set of core themes: the forms and contexts of violence, minority women experience the continuum of violence, the role of culture and faith in the control of women and girls, the types of intervention within multi-cultural and social cohesion policies, the impacts of violence on British-born and migrant women and girls and the intersection of race, class, gender and sexuality, highlighting issues of similarity and difference. Taken together, they provide a valuable resource for scholars, students, activists, social workers and policy makers working in the field.

Moving in the Shadows Liz Kelly, 2016-04-15 In the UK the number of people who came from a minority ethnic group grew by 53 per cent between 1991

Grand Challenges in Earthquake Engineering Research National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Earth Sciences and Resources, Committee on Seismology and Geodynamics, Committee for the Workshop on Grand Challenges in Earthquake Engineering Research – "A Vision for NEES Experimental Facilities and Cyberinfrastructure Tools, 2011-10-30. As geological threats become more imminent, society must make a major commitment to increase the resilience of its communities, infrastructure and citizens. Recent earthquakes in Japan, New Zealand, Haiti and Chile provide stark reminders of the devastating impact major earthquakes have on the lives and economic stability of millions of people worldwide. The events in Haiti continue to show that poor planning and governance lead to long-term chaos, while nations like Chile demonstrate steady recovery due to modern earthquake planning and proper construction and mitigation activities. At the request of the National Science Foundation, the National Research Council hosted a two-day workshop to give members of the community an opportunity to identify Grand Challenges for earthquake engineering research that are needed to achieve an earthquake resilient society, as well as to describe networks of earthquake engineering, experimental capabilities and cyberinfrastructure tools that could continue to address ongoing areas of concern.

Grand Challenges in Earthquake Engineering Research: A Community Workshop Report explores the priorities and problems regions face in reducing consequent damage and spurring technological preparedness advances. Over the course of the Grand Challenges in Earthquake Engineering Research workshop, 13 grand challenge problems emerged and were summarized in terms of five overarching themes, including community resilience, framework decision making, simulation, mitigation and design tools. Participants suggested 14 experimental facilities and cyberinfrastructure tools that would be needed to carry out testing, observations and simulations and to analyze the results. The report also reviews progressive steps that have been made in research and development and considers what factors will accelerate transformative solutions

Conflict-Related Violence against Women Aisling Swaine, 2018-02-15 By comparatively assessing three conflict affected jurisdictions Liberia Northern Ireland and Timor Leste Conflict Related Violence against Women empirically and theoretically expands current understanding of the form and nature of conflict time harms impacting women The violences that occur in conflict beyond strategic rape are first identified Employing both a disaggregated and an aggregated approach relations between forms of violence within and across each context s pre mid and post conflict phase are then assessed identifying connections and distinctions in violence Swaine highlights a wider spectrum of conflict related violence against women than is currently acknowledged She identifies a range of forces that simultaneously push open and close down spaces for addressing violence against women through post conflict transitional justice The book proposes that in the aftermath of conflict a transformation rather than a transition is required if justice is to play a role in preventing gendered violence before conflict and its appearance during and after conflict
