Regulation of Tissue Oxygenation, Second Edition Roland N. Pittman, 2016-08-18 This presentation describes various aspects of the regulation of tissue oxygenation including the roles of the circulatory system respiratory system and blood the carrier of oxygen within these components of the cardiorespiratory system The respiratory system takes oxygen from the atmosphere and transports it by diffusion from the air in the alveoli to the blood flowing through the pulmonary capillaries The cardiovascular system then moves the oxygenated blood from the heart to the microcirculation of the various organs by convection where oxygen is released from hemoglobin in the red blood cells and moves to the parenchymal cells of each tissue by diffusion Oxygen that has diffused into cells is then utilized in the mitochondria to produce adenosine triphosphate ATP the energy currency of all cells The mitochondria are able to produce ATP until the oxygen tension or PO<sub>2</sub> on the cell surface falls to a critical level of about 4.5 mm Hg Thus in order to meet the energetic needs of cells it is important to maintain a continuous supply of oxygen to the mitochondria at or above the critical PO<sub>2</sub> In order to accomplish this desired outcome the cardiorespiratory system including the blood must be capable of regulation to ensure survival of all tissues under a wide range of circumstances The purpose of this presentation is to provide basic information about the operation and regulation of the cardiovascular and respiratory systems as well as the properties of the blood and parenchymal cells so that a fundamental understanding of the regulation of tissue oxygenation is achieved

Cellular Organelles Edward Bittar, 1995-12-08 The purpose of this volume is to provide a synopsis of present knowledge of the structure organisation and function of cellular organelles with an emphasis on the examination of important but unsolved problems and the directions in which molecular and cell biology are moving Though designed primarily to meet the needs of the first year medical student particularly in schools where the traditional curriculum has been partly or wholly replaced by a multi disciplinary core curriculum the mass of information made available here should prove useful to students of biochemistry physiology biology bioengineering dentistry and nursing It is not yet possible to give a complete account of the relations between the organelles of two compartments and of the mechanisms by which some degree of order is maintained in the cell as a whole However a new breed of scientists known as molecular cell biologists have already contributed in some measure to our understanding of several biological phenomena notably interorganelle communication Take for example intracellular membrane transport it can now be expressed in terms of the sorting targeting and transport of protein from the endoplasmic reticulum to another compartment This volume contains the first ten chapters on the subject of organelles The remaining four are in Volume 3 to which sections on organelle disorders and the extracellular matrix have been added

Cell Organelles Reinhold G. Herrmann,2012-12-06 The compartmentation of genetic information is a fundamental feature of the eukaryotic cell The metabolic capacity of a eukaryotic plant cell and the steps leading to it are overwhelmingly an endeavour of a joint genetic cooperation between nucleus cytosol plastids and mitochondria Alter ation of the genetic material in anyone of these compartments or exchange of organelles between species can seriously affect harmoniously balanced growth of an organism Although the biological significance of this genetic design has been vividly evident since the discovery of non Mendelian inheritance by Baur and Correns at the beginning of this century and became indisputable in principle after Renner s work on interspecific nuclear plastid hybrids summarized in his classical article in 1934 studies on the genetics of organelles have long suffered from the lack of respectabil ity Non Mendelian inheritance was considered a research sideline ifnot a freak by most geneticists which becomes evident when one consults common textbooks For instance these have usually impeccable accounts of photosynthetic and respiratory energy conversion in chloroplasts and mitochondria of metabolism and global circulation of the biological key elements C N and S as well as of the organization maintenance and function of nuclear genetic information In contrast the heredity and molecular biology of organelles are generally treated as an adjunct and neither goes as far as to describe the impact of the integrated genetic system
