

Installation Instructions

The PC5904 Central Station Talk / Listen module is used in conjunction with the PC5908 (software version 1.10 or higher) or PC5928 Audio Interface modules for communication with the central monitoring station. Each PC5904 station has a separate microphone and speaker to both transmit and receive audio input. In addition, personnel at the monitoring station can communicate with the end user by listening in when security problems occur and providing verbal response via the station's speaker.

Each station must be home-run to the interface module using shielded 22-gauge, four-conductor wire.

Each station can be programmed to sound a pulsing tone whenever the system bell or siren is activated. To program this option, refer to the PC5908/PC5928 Programming Worksheets located in the Installation Manual (Section [802], subsection [30], option [1]).

This station does not have Do Not Disturb or Page/Answer buttons since it is used strictly for talking and listening-in purposes. Therefore, we recommend that it be masked off in the general broadcast mask options. This option can be programmed for each station in PC5908/PC5928 programming section [802], subsection [20], options [2] - [8].

Operation C3 John Burt, 2023-05-04 Burt offers an account of how an invasion might have unfolded and its consequences by drawing on parallel events at other times and places Definitely worth a read The NYMAS Review When writing his memoirs after World War II German Generalfeldmarschall Albert Kesselring stated Italy's missing her chance to occupy the island of Malta at the start of hostilities will go down in history as a fundamental blunder It's easy to see why this tiny 95 square mile island held such a prominent place in the war's Mediterranean Theater Located almost halfway between the British bases of Gibraltar and Alexandria Egypt and just 60 miles south of Sicily her airfields and naval base stood directly in the path of Italy's and her German partner's line of communication from Europe to North Africa Operation C3 is a detailed study of the Axis 1942 plan to invade and take the island of Malta The book examines the future combatants up to the Axis capture of Tobruk in June 1942 The book then provides a realistic assessment of what would have had to happen if the Axis had decided to launch the invasion Operation C3 then provides a day by day battle narrative of the invasion as if it had occurred on Saturday August 15 1942 The battle narrative is based on the combatant's actual plans from the Italian and Maltese archives and the realistic appraisal of what could have happened when those plans collide A Reality Analysis section is added after the battle narrative to discuss what really happened after Tobruk fell and why Operation C3 was never attempted
