The Atlas of Economic Complexity Ricardo Hausmann, Cesar A. Hidalgo, Sebastian Bustos, Michele Coscia, Alexander Simoes, 2014-01-17 Maps capture data expressing the economic complexity of countries from Albania to Zimbabwe offering current economic measures and as well as a guide to achieving prosperity Why do some countries grow and others do not The authors of The Atlas of Economic Complexity offer readers an explanation based on Economic Complexity a measure of a society's productive knowledge Prosperous societies are those that have the knowledge to make a larger variety of more complex products The Atlas of Economic Complexity attempts to measure the amount of productive knowledge countries hold and how they can move to accumulate more of it by making more complex products Through the graphical representation of the Product Space the authors are able to identify each country's adjacent possible or potential new products making it easier to find paths to economic diversification and growth In addition they argue that a country's economic complexity and its position in the product space are better predictors of economic growth than many other well known development indicators including measures of competitiveness governance finance and schooling Using innovative visualizations the book locates each country in the product space provides complexity and growth potential rankings for 128 countries and offers individual country pages with detailed information about a country's current capabilities and its diversification options The maps and visualizations included in the Atlas can be used to find more viable paths to greater productive knowledge and prosperity

Regions and Powers Barry Buzan,Ole Wæver,2003-12-04 This book develops the idea that since decolonisation regional patterns of security have become more prominent in international politics The authors combine an operational theory of regional security with an empirical application across the whole of the international system Individual chapters cover Africa the Balkans CIS Europe East Asia EU Europe the Middle East North America South America and South Asia The main focus is on the post Cold War period but the history of each regional security complex is traced back to its beginnings By relating the regional dynamics of security to current debates about the global power structure the authors unfold a distinctive interpretation of post Cold War international security avoiding both the extreme oversimplifications of the unipolar view and the extreme deterritorialisations of many globalist visions of a new world disorder Their framework brings out the radical diversity of security dynamics in different parts of the world

What is the Impact of Increased Business Competition? Sónia Félix,Chiara Maggi,2019-12-13 This paper studies the macroeconomic effect and underlying firm level transmission channels of a reduction in business entry costs We provide novel evidence on the response of firms entry exit and employment decisions To do so we use as a natural experiment a reform in Portugal that reduced entry time and costs Using the staggered implementation of the policy across the Portuguese municipalities we find that the reform increased local entry and employment by respectively 25% and 4 8% per year in its first four years of implementation Moreover around 60% of the increase in employment came from incumbent firms expanding their size with most of the rise occurring among the most productive firms Standard models of firm dynamics which assume a constant elasticity of substitution are inconsistent with the expansionary and heterogeneous response across incumbent firms We show that in a model with heterogeneous firms and variable markups the most productive firms face a lower demand elasticity and expand their employment in response to increased entry

Google Earth Engine Applications Lalit Kumar,Onesimo Mutanga,2019-04-23 In a rapidly changing world there is an ever increasing need to monitor the Earth s resources and manage it sustainably for future generations Earth observation from satellites is critical to provide information required for informed and timely decision making in this regard Satellite based earth observation has advanced rapidly over the last 50 years and there is a plethora of satellite sensors imaging the Earth at finer spatial and spectral resolutions as well as high temporal resolutions The amount of data available for any single location on the Earth is now at the petabyte scale An ever increasing capacity and computing power is needed to handle such large datasets The Google Earth Engine GEE is a cloud based computing platform that was established by Google to support such data processing This facility allows for the storage processing and analysis of spatial data using centralized high power computing resources allowing scientists researchers hobbyists and anyone else interested in such fields to mine this data and understand the changes occurring on the Earth s surface This book presents research that applies the Google Earth Engine in mining storing retrieving and processing spatial data for a variety of applications that include vegetation monitoring cropland mapping ecosystem assessment and gross primary productivity among others Datasets used range from coarse spatial resolution data such as MODIS to medium resolution datasets Worldview 2 and the studies cover the entire globe at varying spatial and temporal scales

Economic Diversification in the GCC Mr.Tim Callen,Reda Cherif,Fuad Hasanov,Mr.Amgad Hegazy,Padamja Khandelwal,2014-12-23 Abstract The economies of the six Gulf Cooperation Council GCC countries are heavily reliant on oil Greater economic diversification would reduce their exposure to volatility and uncertainty in the global oil market help create jobs in the private sector increase productivity and sustainable growth and help create the non oil economy that will be needed in the future when oil revenues start to dwindle The GCC countries have followed many of the standard policies that are usually thought to promote more diversified economies including reforms to improve the business climate the development of domestic infrastructure financial deepening and improvements in education Nevertheless success to date has been limited This paper argues that increased diversification will require realigning incentives for firms and workers in the economies fixing these incentives is the missing link in the GCC countries diversification strategies At present producing non tradables is less risky and more profitable for firms as they can benefit from the easy availability of low wage foreign labor and the rapid growth in government spending while the continued availability of high paying and secure public sector jobs discourages nationals from pursuing entrepreneurship and private sector employment Measures to begin to address these incentive issues could include limiting and reorienting government spending strengthening private sector competition providing guarantees and financial support for those firms engaged in export activity and implementing labor market reforms to make nationals more competitive for private sector employment
