A provider prescribes phenobarbital for a client who has a seizure disorder. The medication has a long half-life of 4 days. How many times per day should the nurse expect to administer this medication?

A. One

B. Two

C. Three

D. Four

( ☐ correct Ans)- A (Medications with long half-lives remain at their therapeutic levels between doses for long periods of time. The nurse should expect to administer this medication once a day.)

A staff educator is reviewing medication dosages and factors that influence medication metabolism with a group of nurses at an in-service presentation. Which of the following factors should the educator include as a reason to administer lower medication dosages? (Select all that apply.)

A. Increased renal secretion

B. Increased medication-metabolizing enzymes

C. Liver failure

D. Peripheral vascular disease

E. Concurrent use of medication the same pathway metabolizes

( ☐ correct Ans)- Answer:

C, E

(C. Liver failure decreases metabolism and thus increases the concentration of a medication. This requires decreasing the dosage.

E. When the same pathway metabolizes two medications, they compete for metabolism, thereby increasing the concentration of one or both medications. This requires decreasing the dosage of one or both)

A nurse is preparing to administer eye drops to a client. Which of the following actions should the nurse take? (Select all that apply.)

A. Have the client lie on her side.

B. Ask the client to look up at the ceiling.

C. Tell the client to blink when the drops enter her eye.

D. Drop the medication into the center of the client's conjunctival sac.

E. Instruct the client to close her eye gently after instillation

Messer, Kenneth A. Bachmann, 2009-06-19 Pharmacology meets the rapidly emerging needs of programs training pharmacologic scientists seeking careers in basic research and drug discovery rather than such applied fields as pharmacy and medicine While the market is crowded with many clinical and therapeutic pharmacology textbooks the field of pharmacology is booming with the prospects of discovering new drugs and virtually no extant textbook meets this need at the student level The market is so bereft of such approaches that many pharmaceutical companies will adopt Hacker et al to help train new drug researchers The boom in pharmacology is driven by the recent decryption of the human genome and enormous progress in controlling genes and synthesizing proteins making new and even custom drug design possible This book makes use of these discoveries in presenting its topics moving logically from drug receptors to the target molecules drug researchers seek covering such modern topics along the way as side effects drug resistance pharmacogenomics and even nutraceuticals one in a string of culminating chapters on the drug discovery process The book is aimed at advanced undergraduates and beginning graduate students in medical pharmacy and graduate schools looking for a solid introduction to the basic science of pharmacology and envisioning careers in drug research Uses individual drugs to explain molecular actions Full color art program explains molecular and chemical concepts graphically Logical structure reflecting the current state of pharmacology and translational research Covers such intricacies as drug resistance and cell death Consistent format across chapters and pedagogical strategies make this textbook a superior learning tool     Ati Teas Review Manual Ati,2020-08-14 The official TEAS manual written by the creators of the TEAS exam
